34 PROJECTS ARE ADOPTED BY JAYCEES

A budget of $5,330 to cover 34 community projects during the coming year was adopted by the Gettysburg Junior Chamber of Commerce at its meeting Thursday night in the Jaycee office in the Western Maryland Railway depot.

Among projects will be "Operation Gettysburg" the program designed to help beautify Gettysburg and give it an individual atmosphere; a program to assist the Adams County Public Library and projects of junior golf and tennis, similar to prior years' programs.

The Jaycees decided to establish at Gettysburg High School a mathematics and science award program, with details to be worked out in conjunction with school officials.

SHOW IN AUGUST

They also decided to hold an awards and recognition banquet similar to one held several years ago at which the winners of the various community events will be honored and a special award will be presented to the "outstanding youth" in the community.

In connection with the annual antique show held in August, it was announced that five dealers have already paid for spaces at the show.

President Robert Weiland presided at the meeting and named a number of committee chairman.

Those under direction of External Vice President Henry Trainer include: Junior olympics, William Williams; junior tennis, Ranger Buehler; junior golf, Harry Spangler; "operation library," Thomas Piper; "Campaign Gettysburg," Donald Becker; math and science award, President Weiland; awards and recognition banquet, Richard Guise; religious action, Jack Trautwein; battlefield preservation, Thomas Metz and Henry Trainer; record hops, James Codori; antique show, Henry Trainer for the show and Ray Fisher for the program.

Committees under Internal Vice President Bart Hoppe will include: Membership, Harry Spangler; personnel, Charles Angstadt; program, Wesley Kriebel; club functions, James Sheen; public relations, John Korver; awards and recognition, John Guise; house committee, Donald Becker; "Speak-up Jaycee" program, Barton Hoppe; finance, James Codori; state and national promotion, Wesley Kriebel.

For the second time in its history the Jaycee unit voted to support a candidate for state Jaycee president prior to the convention. Last year it support local member Donald Becker in his campaign. This year it will support Tony Santeusanio, of Highspire, who had been Becker's campaign chairman last year.

Plan Simulated Attack April 28

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will undergo a simulated attack at 4 p.m. Eastern Standard Time Friday, April 28.

At that hour, a Conelrad radio alert drill will silence all normal television and radio broadcasting for 30 minutes. Sirens will be sounded in many areas, traffic will be halted and take-cover exercises will be carried out in some states.

This will be part of the Civil Defense annual training exercise, Operation Alert 1961, defense mobilizer Frank B. Ellis announced Thursday.

A two-day increased readiness buildup will precede the mock attack.

The first phase of the exercise will end April 30. Other phases, for state and federal field staffs, will be held in September and October.

CLUB SPEAKER CALLS VOICE "IMPORTANT"

Mrs. Doris Stetterman, service representative of the Bell Telephone Company, of Harrisburg, addressed the dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club in the YWCA Thursday evening. Her theme was "Your Voice Is You."

"When you are speaking face to face with someone your smile, grooming and charm combine to present your own self and all help to create a good impression. When you talk over the telephone, however, everything depends on your voice. Make it a pleasant one."

Using a tape recorder the variety and tones of eight different women's voices in telephone conversation were demonstrated and a cartoonist's caricatures of the type person depicted were shown illustrating the mental image derived from the sound of a voice.

"People expect you to be exactly the way you sound," Mrs. Stetterman said. "It is possible for a woman to change her voice just as she changes her hair style or complexion."

Suggestions were made on developing a good telephone voice through voice drills, breathing exercises and she told of training methods used by the Bell Company to help its employes speak in a pleasant and natural voice.

RECORD THEIR VOICES

Members of the club were given the opportunity of recording their voices on tape and heard them played back.

Major Ruby Clapsaddle, ANC, was a guest.

The dinner committee included: Mrs. Paul B. Pensinger, chairman; Miss Esther Hartman, Mrs. James Parry, Mrs. Harold Sharpe, Mrs. Flo Woomer, Mrs. Conway Williams, Mrs. Edith Bushman and Miss Mary Duttera. The program was arranged by Miss Anna Clapsaddle, who presided as toastmistress.

The board will meet next Thursday at the "Y" at 7:30 o'clock.

STATE CANCER PRESIDENT TO SPEAK MONDAY

Dr. Ronald A. Loeb, Lancaster, president of the Pennsylvania Division of the American Cancer Society, will be the speaker at the joint meeting of the local service clubs Monday evening at 6 o'clock in the Gettysburg High School cafeteria.

Attorney John A. MacPhail, president of the Adams County unit of the cancer society, in charge of the joint program, said it is also open to the general public.

Dr. Loeb will speak on "Doctors, Volunteers and Cancer."

LONG SERVICE RECORD

A native of Lancaster, Dr. Loeb

DR. R. A. LOEB

received his medical education at the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine and returned to Lancaster General Hospital for internship and residency. He also served a residency at Memorial Hospital in New York City where he specialized in cytology in that institution which concerns itself primarily with cancer.

Returning to Lancaster he was a leader in the establishment of a cytology program there, urging his fellow physicians to expand their efforts in diagnosis of cancer through examinations and the "Pap" smear technique.

Long a leader in both the Lancaster County and state units of the American Cancer Society, and now serving as president of the Pennsylvania Division of the society he, in November, 1960, and again in March, 1961, joined with the presidents of the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis and Health Society and Pennsylvania Heart Association to speak for the agencies against heavy smoking. In joint statements, the presidents called public attention to the harmful effect of smoking and urged particularly that those who influence young people seek to prevent youngsters from starting to smoke.

CC Membership Committee Busy

The 23 members of the membership committee of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce will contact 248 area businessmen to urge they join the Chamber.

Meeting Thursday noon at the Lamp Post Tea Room, a group from the committee headed by Frank Sapp and including William Lentz, Russell Campbell, Dr. Willard S. Paul, Calvin Shank, Attorney Charles W. Wolf and Donald Carver set up a program by which the names of the 248 will be divided among the entire membership of the committee and each member asked to see approximately 10 persons.

Sapp reported that 14 memberships were secured by a letter sent out previously to businessmen not members of the Chamber at present. The new members brought to 119 current membership in the community organization.

Under plans of the group, all of the members of the membership committee will be sent next week the names of the potential members and each will pick 10 names of persons they wish to see.

Correct Figures On Tax Calculations

The county commissioners' office today corrected an illustration published Thursday to explain the role the new occupational assessments will play in determining the amount of tax to be paid by countians.

The assessments, placed by groups according to occupations, do not represent the amount of tax but the assesment on which the milalge tax rate is to be applied.

Thus if a person has a $300 occupation tax assessment and a 10-mill tax is levied, that person's occupation tax would be $3. In Thursday's illustration the amount was given incorrectly as 30 cents. Each mill of taxation represents 10 cents on each $100 of assessment.

Four Men Lose Lives In Chambersburg Hotel Fire

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Four persons were dead and five others hospitalized in the wake of a flash fire which swept a small hotel near the Public Square of Chambersburg Thursday night.

The fourth victim was identified as Wilson Beard, a fireman, who was critically burned and cut when a plate glass lobby window exploded as he walked into the burning structure. Beard died about 4 a.m., eight hours after the fire broke out.

PERMANENT GUESTS

The other victims were permanent guests at the hotel. They were Robert Stine, about 80; Mark Staley, in his late 60s, both retired persons, and Clarence Snively, also in his 60s. Snively was employed as caretaker at Penn Hall, a girls' school in Chambersburg.

Volunteer firemen who battled the costly blaze said they rescued some of the guests at the Hotel Reeder, others made their way out unassisted, and still others were not in their rooms when the fire broke out about 8 p.m. The cause of the fire has not been determined.

Firemen and officials still poked in the blackened ruins this morning, but authorities expressed belief they had accounted for all guests and firemen.

5 IN HOSPITAL

Admitted to Chambersburg Hospital besides Beard were: John Kearns, 67, another permanent guest of the hotel, and firemen Charles Shaffer, Jack Kauffman, Pete Strine and Clyde Baughman.

Thirteen other firemen were treated at the hospital's emergency room for smoke inhalation and minor injuries.

Unofficial estimates were that the property damage would run in excess of $100,000.

Authorities reported the flames started in a hallway at the rear of the hotel tavern and spread rapidly through the hotel and into adjacent stores and office buildings.

Cause of the blaze was not immediately determined and no damage estimate was available.

The fire raged out of control for more than two hours. At its height, the wind-whipped flames threatened the Franklin County courthouse annex and important records were removed as a precaution.

Rescue Starving Fawn From Snow

A half-grown fawn, apparently very cold and very hungry, was brought into Bendersville Thursday morning by Douglas Moore and Ralph Fort, identified as insurance salesmen from Norristown. They said they had found the young deer, nearly frozen, in eight inches of snow along a mountain road. They placed it in their station wagon and telephoned Game Protector Paul Glenny from Bendersville.

When Mr. Glenny arrived, he found the deer considerably revived by the warmth of its quarters and the animal had to be roped to get it out of the station wagon and into Glenny's car. The game protector could not be reached today to learn what disposition was made of the animal. The young deer in the front seat of the station wagon near Bucher's Restaurant in Bendersville attracted a great deal of attention until it was taken over by Glenny.

Cuba's Largest Department Store And Paper Warehouse Burned; "Suspicious Origin"

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

HAVANA (AP)—Cuba's biggest department store was a blackened ruin today, totally destroyed by Fidel Castro's growing opposition in fiery answer to his pledge to wipe out terrorism.

A blaze of "suspicious origin" also damaged a paper warehouse Thursday night, and at least nine explosions rocked Havan suburbs during and after the two fires.

The fires resulted in no deaths but 27 persons were hurt. Six of them were firemen whose engine overturned as it raced to the warhouse blaze. Three were in critical condition.

Government radio stations said U. S. central intelligence agents were responsible for the lightning-fast blaze that consumed the six-story nationalized El Encanto department store, estimated worth more than $7 million.

MOBILIZE BIG FORCE

The night's incidents happened amid an atmosphere of anxiety throughout the island nation, whose leaders have been quietly mobilizing a huge military force against sporadic but growing armed resistance from within and an invasion threat from abroad.

The anti-Castro terrorists struck new less than 24 hours after armed forces minister Raul Castro urged increased vigilance against saboteurs. Prime Minister Fidel Castro, his brother, said a week ago that terrorists would be liquidated.

The flames leveled El Encanto in little more than two hours and firemen spent hours after that keeping the smouldering ruins from touching off nearby buildings.

BLASTED WEEK AGO

Just a week ago saboteurs blasted the store's display windows. They were repaired within two days in an obvious effort to shield the explosion's effects from the curious.

Construction workers have been working feverishly the past four months to rebuild another nearby department store razed by terrorists on New Year's Eve.

Meanwhile, during the night, a firing squad executed a university student accused of terrorism. Two accomplices got 30-year prison terms.

The execution of Abelardo Aguiar Alfonso, 19, came a few hours after a military tribunal convicted him on a charge of possessing detonators and other terrorist equipment. It was the 604th execution, by unofficial tabulation, since Castro assumed power in January 1959.

YOUNG FOLK TO GIVE "REC" BD. CENTER PLANS

A group of local young people planning to present the Gettysburg Recreation Board at its meeting Monday evening at the high school building with preliminary plans for a community center here.

Lee Raffensperger, recreation director, said the "teen-agers" have asked permission to meet with the board and have worked out among themselves a plan which they feel is practical and which they anticipate the other teen-agers of the community will back with their own money.

Comprising the committee are Robert Ford, James Fox, Roger Smith, Nicholas Redding, Henry Shindledecker, Jane Roth and Wanda and Jeanne Bowling.

OBSERVED AT YORK

The student committee started discussing the need of a community center at a recreation association dance some months ago, then went to York to see how the community centers operate there.

They found that at the Pine St. Recreation Center an old school building had been converted as a community center. A dance studio had donated a piano and record players. The Soroptimists had donated draperies for the Senior Citizens' Lounge. A number of city industries had provided materials for handiwork programs. Another civic group had donated files.

At another community center in York, the Rotary Club and others had donated a building and equipment.

NEED $30,000

In the thinking of the youngsters, small fees could be charged for activities to provide the wages for the directors operating the community centers. Volunteers could help with many projects and the center should be for all age groups and activities.

Anticipating a necessary outlay of $30,000 or more for construction of a proposed building, the youths hope to raise part of that sum from among themselves.

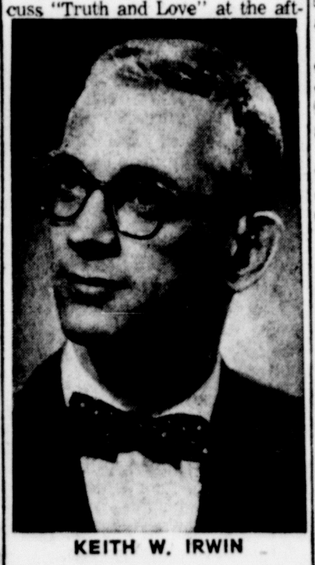

They hope the remainder can be made up by popular subscripton among adult individuals and organizations.

To help clarify their ideas they are having drawings made by some of the local students and instructors showing "what we have in mind." Members of the committee said they realize that the building could not be established in time for their use as "teen-agers," but "we have to start somewhere sometime."

EDUCATORS TO CONVENE HERE

Gettysburg College will host educators from 14 other colleges who will attend a Faculty Christian Fellowship Conference Saturday.

CHURCHILL LEAVES U. S.

NEW YORK (AP) — A tottery but smiling Sir Winston Churchill bade cheering Americans goodby today—perhaps for the last time.

A crowd of about 300 persons at Idlewild Airport clapped and shouted as the 86-year-old former British prime minister boarded a plane for home.

With friends assisting at each arm, and using his familiar cane, Sir Winston proceeded slowly on a 200-foot walk from a terminal building to a jet airliner.

The crowd burst into cheers and surged against iron barriers, which had been specially set up on each side of his path.

Sir Winston broke into a giant version of his famed cherubic grin, took off his hat, held it aloft and eyed the well-wishers with obvious appreciation.

AIDED BY FRIENDS

A microphone had been set up, apparently in hopes the famed World War II statesman would say a few words.

Then with a final glance at the cheering crowd, Churchill gave one more expression of farewell and entered the aircraft.

He was assisted by two old friends, American financier Bernard Baruch and Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis, and was attended by his personal physician and two nurses.

Churchill arrived Wednesday after a Caribbean cruise on Onassis' luxurious yacht.

As he moved toward his plane, among those in the crowd straining to catch a glimpse were a mother and her 6-year-old son. The mother turned to the boy and said: "There is one of the greatest men that ever lived."

Bike Month To Be Observed

American bicycle month will be observed in May, and Police Chief Jack Bartlett has urged all bicyclists to obtain, free of charge, a booklet on bike safety rules and regulations from any store that sells bicycles.

He said that the booklet contains tips on proper bike adjustment, lubrication, some aspects on fun in cycling and the 10 favorite bike games.

Bartlett emphasized a few rules and regulations which are frequently disregarded by bicyclist in this area. They are: have a reflector on the rear fender for night riding; have a satisfactory signalling device to warn of approaches; give pedestrians the right of way and avoid sidewalk riding; use proper hand signals for turning and stopping, and weaving in and out of traffic or swerving from side to side.

Bartlett said safety programs help reduce accidents involving bikes and motor vehicles on the highways. In the past 10 years, he added, bike accidents have dropped 13 per cent.

Two Injured In Thursday Mishap

Two persons were hospitalized following a two-car accident on Rt. 194 near Dillsburg Thursday morning, one in the Warner Hospital and one in Hanover.

Alvin James, Hanover, is in satisfactory condition today after being treated for a cerebral concussion and broken ribs. Mrs. Richard Myers, East Berlin, was admitted to the Warner Hospital after the accident is listed as satisfactory this morning. Dr. Albert Grasmick, New Oxford, who treated Mrs. Myers, said she is suffering from a head injury and will be "in the hospital for some time."

The accident occurred when a car driven by Mrs. Titus Mummert, Dillsburg, allegedly slid in the slushy snow, crossed the highway and struck the northbound car driven by James, who was on his way to work at the Mechanicsburg Naval Depot. Myers was an occupant in the James' car.

Pays Fine And Costs After Local Crash

Leonard Oney, Colton, N. Y., paid a $5 fine and costs to Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder Thursday afternoon on a charge filed by borough police following an accident at Baltimore and W. Middle St., of failing to halt at a red light.

Police said Oney was traveling north on Baltimore and failed to see the red light and at the intersection struck a car driven by Rufus Reaver, 420 W. High St., who was driving west on Middle St. Damage was estimated at $300 to the Reaver vehicle and $250 to the Oney car.

TWO CARS COLLIDE

Damage totaled $290 in an accident Thursday noon at the intersection of Breckenridge and Franklin Sts., borough police reported. They said Lawrence R. Johnson, 20, R. 1, was traveling east in a 1951 Buick when his vehicle was struck on the right rear bumper and fender by a 1956 Chevrolet station wagon driven by Carl E. Baer, 39, of York. Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer H. Wolf, Gardners R. 1, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Shirley Gladys Wolf, to Lawrence Edward Tanger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Tanger, Carlisle R. 1.

When President John F. Kennedy was sworn in on January 20, it was the first time in 75 years that three ex-presidents were alive for an inauguration.

At that time, Dwight D. Eisenhower was 70, Harry S. Truman was 76, and Herbert C. Hoover was 86. Happily, statisticians point out, both Mr. Hoover and Mr. Truman have already lived for a longer time since their inauguration than would have been expected on the basis of mortality conditions prevailing at the time they took office.

Since the Civil War there have been only two other Presidents—Grover Cleveland and William H. Taft — who have outlived their expectation of life at inauguration. The 16 deceased Presidents from Lincoln to Franklin D. Roosevelt lived about eight years less, on the average, then expected. Even if the three who were assassinated while in office—Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley—are omitted from the record, the actual years lived by the deceased Presidents of the post-Civil War era still averaged 6.6 years less than expected at their inauguration.

The earlier Presidents had a much more favorable longevity. The 15 Presidents to Buchanan lived an average of one and one-third years longer than their expectation of life at inauguration and the first 10 outlived their expectation of life at inauguration by an average of about four and a half years. Of the first 10 President, only Washington and William H. Harrison fell appreciably short of their expectation of life—Washington by 4.7 years and Harrison by 9.3.

* * *

John Adams was the longest-lived of our Presidents, attaining age 90, or 16 years in excess of his expectation of life at inauguration. At the other extreme, Garfield was the shortest-lived, dying from an assassin's bullet at the age of 49—19 years shorts of his expectation of life. Polk and Harding died at 53 and 57, respectively, 16 years before their time. Franklin D. Roosevelt was 63 when he died, eight years short of his expectation of life at the time he took office.

Theodore Roosevelt was the youngest at inauguration, 42 years of age: Kennedy was 43. The oldest men to become President were William H. Harrison and James Buchanan, who were 68 and 65, respectively, at inauguration.

* * *

"Considering that there have been only 34 Presidents of the United States and that their longevity record has varied from one historic period to another," statisticians conclude, "it is not possible to say whether or not the presidency shortens life."

FAMOUS BABES FACING HARD TIMES AHEAD

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — What chance for happiness or a useful life does a baby have who is born in the shadow of famous parents?

Not much, argue some people (for once delighted with being ordinary) as they point with pity at the cases of Diana Barrymore and Edward G. Robinson Jr., or shake their fingers at the antics of Sarah Churchill or Bing Crosby's boys.

More thance than most, claim others. And they hail the Rockefeller children, Margaret Truman, Jane Fonda, John F. Kennedy and brothers, Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. as positive proof that the offspring of rich and/or prominent people can and do chart their successful courses.

With a bumper crop of celebrity babies in the last 12 months . . . among them the late Clark Gable's son, the President's progeny, Queen Elizabeth's new prince, and Brigitte Bardot's boy . . . a psychology-conscious nation debates their future.

SPECIAL DIFFICULTIES

Children of parents in the limelight have special difficulties to surmount, declares Dr. Abram Blau, head of the child psychiatry clinic, Mount Sinai Hospital. Those who overcome them to amount to something on their own deserve a great deal of credit, he says.

"Every child is in competition with his father or her mother. A son with a famous father feels he has to live up to that very high ideal. In trying he may fail to develop himself or fulfill himself as an individual."

Striving to excel in footsteps too big for his own talents, fear that his successes will be discounted as family influence are other emotional roadblocks in the celebrity child's way.

RESENT AUTHORTY

Each girl or boy has a certain amount of antagonism towards the authority of mother and father anyway, Dr. Blau points out. These situations intensify it.

"I am not pointing out Clark Gable's son, or any child specifically . . . but when a parent is dead or permanently absent from the home for some reason, the problem is much worse.

"Fantasy builds up the father in the child's mind as someone without faults. He never made a mistake, never lost his temper, never would have punished him, always was benevolent, and with more talents than humanly possible.

"At least a child whose famous parent is at home with him has a realistic idea of him. He has a human father figure rather than a fantasy father."

EQUALLY DISTRIBUTED

Being a good or a bad parent has little to do with being a celebrity, the doctor believes. The good and had have been equally distributed among all kinds of people.

Few stage or screen personalities fret about the effect their limelit lives may have on their youngsters.

"My children play with others whose parents are also well known in one way or another in show business," Judy Garland once told a reporter. 'They don't think my job or their lives are any different than anyone else's."

Jerry Lewis, Donald O'Connor and Jan Murray are other famous fathers who voice the same views.

So unimpressed, in fact, with her daddy's job is Jan Murray's 7-year-old Diane that she thinks anyone could manage it just fine.

The nation's maintenance and repair bill for buildings of all kinds has grown to around $20 billion a year.

Russia, France Deal U.N. Painful Blows On Problems

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United Nations has been dealt painful blows on the back of the neck and is headed for tumult.

French President Charles de Gaulle and Premier Khrushchev have belted the United Nations in a way to make it bleed.

The United Nations this year probably will at least begin debating admission of Red China despite U. S. objections. Such a debate would touch off an uproar.

These were the blows spread over the past seven months:

1. Last September Khrushchev began a wrecking operation. He demanded U. N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold—for his handling of the Congo—quit and be replaced by a three-man secretariat.

DE GAULLE RIDICULES U.N.

2. This week De Gaulle ridiculed the United Nations, said France wouldn't participate with men or money in "any present or possible enterprise," complained it was no longer what it set out to be and called for its reform.

3. France and the Soviet bloc refused to contribute to the 1960 or 1961 cost of preventing complete Congo chaos. With the United Nations thus hard up, the United States rushed to the rescue, offered to put up a big chunk.

Hammarskjold, subjected to Russian contempt, talks back. But his usefullness has been damaged. He's been rendered self-conscious in all his actions where the Communists are concerned. His term ends in two years.

A TOTAL FORCE

But Khrushchev would make the United Nations a total farce with his proposal to replace Hammarskjold with a secretariat of three men, one representing the West, one the neutrals, one the Communists.

The Red member, with a veto over what the other two might want want to do in crisis, could turn the United Nations into a jabbering forum lost in debate while the world burned.

The French freeze-up on the United Nations is part of De Gaulle's persistent delusion about French grandeur that would have been flattened and finished by the Nazis if the Allies hadn't bailed her out.

France and Russia—with the United States, Britain and Chiang Kai-shek's China—were the big five which banded together in 1945 to make the United Nations possible. It started out that year with 51 members.

U.S. HAS MAJORITY

And for years the United States had a majority on its side in any showdown with Russia. But since 1949, when the Red Chinese pushed him off the mainland to Formosa, Chiang's remnant of China has been more symbol than reality.

And year by year as new members joined—neutrals and the newly freed—U. S. control has diminished. Until now, with 99 members, this country probably no longer can keep the United Nations from debating admission of Red China.

President Kennedy this week said the United States is still opposed to U. N. membership for the Chinese Communists. So far it has been able to block any real discussion of it.

Its power to do so any longer seems over Before year's end the United Nations may be sizzling with open debate on this. With such a debate comes the question of what happens to Chiang's China on Formosa, the American ally, if Red China is allowed in.

Adlai Stevenson has been highly praised for his performance so far. But the days ahead for him are the kind that make a man old fast.

A cow must produce 6,000 pounds or more milk annually just to pay for feed and overhead.

Wedding

Miss Bonnie Ward Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ver-W. Taylor, Highfield, Md., became the bride of Donald Leroy McKenrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore McKenrick, E. Middle St., Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the St. Francis Xavier Church, W. High St. Rev. Fr. LeRoy Spisak officiated the double ring ceremony. A recital of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. George Eberhart, organist, and Mrs. Bernard Frazer, soloist, whose selections included "Lord, Who at Cana's Wedding Feast," "Ave Marie" and "Our Father."

MR. AND MRS. McKENRICK

The altar was decorated with sprays of white gladioli and snapdragons intermingled with glowing tapers in cathedral candelabra.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full length sheer, fashioned with a moulded bodice with a square scalloped neckline and tiny sleeves. The full skirt was festooned with scalloped princess panels which extended in back to form a chaplet train. Her veil was of pure silk illusion to the shoulder gathered to an Alencon place shell, trimmed with satin and pseudo pearl. She carried a white prayerbook topped with a white orchid nested in a shower of satin ribbon. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

IN WEDDING PARTY

Mrs. Richard Swain, sister of the bride, Hagerstown, was the matron of honor. She wore a waltz-length gown of pink chiffon over satin and a matching headpiece with a nose-length veil adorned with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and white mums.

The bridesmaids were Miss Donna Dell Taylor, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Patricia Torelli, who wore identical ballerina-length gowns of shrimp chiffon and whimsy veils sprinkled with seed pearls. She carried a bouwhite mums.

Martin Redding Jr., served as best man, and the ushers were Richard Swain and John Codori Jr.

RECEPTION HELD

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Taylor selected a navy blue dress accented with white accessories. Her corsage was of red and white rosebuds. Mrs. McKenrick, mother of the groom, wore a royal blue frock which was complimented with beige accessories and a corsage of red and white rosebuds.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the "red room" of the church social hall. The bridal table, laid with a lace cloth, was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake supported by white swan columns entwined with pink and yellow rosebuds. Ivy and lighted tapers encircled the wedding cake. Mrs. Joseph Martin, aunt of the bride, cut and served the wedding cake.

Mrs. Richard Olsen presided at the punch bowl, which was circled in ivy, and Miss Winnie Smith registered the wedding guests. Richard Olsen assisted at the reception.

TO LIVE IN WAYNESBORO

For a wedding trip to Florida and the southern United States, the bride changed to an all white walking suit complimented with orchid accessories and the white orchid lifted from her prayerbook. Upon return, the couple will reside at 50 Clayton Ave., Waynesboro.

The bride is a graduate of Smithsburg High School and is employed at the Landis Machine Co., Waynesboro.

The groom is a 1956 graduate of Delone Catholic High School, Hanover, and attended Gettysburg College for two years. He is now employed as the production control manager of Essex Wire Corp., Gettysburg.

A rehearsal party was held Friday evening at the church, following rehearsal for the bridal party, given by the groom's parents.

Out of town guests were from Arlington, Va.; Hagerstown, Cockeysville and Thurmont, Md., and Waynesboro.

BRIEFS

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Catholic, official publication of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Pittsburgh, said today the death penalty should be retained in Pennsylvania.

Bills have been introduced in both houses at Harrisburg proposing that the state abolish the death penalty.

"Our own hope," the newspaper said in an editorial, "is that the debate will be protracted long enough to keep the death penalty on the books until such time as the debate has been purged of false religiosity and irrelevant sentimentality."

NO KENNEDY TOUR LIKELY

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today apparently ruled out any extended European tour during his forthcoming trip to Paris.

He did so by saying he intends to keep a date to speak at commencement exercises at West Virginia University in Morgantown June 5.

Kennedy is scheduled to be in Paris May 31 and June 1-2 for conferences with French President Charles de Gaulle.

There have been reports he might visit London during his trip. Italy has insisted that the President come to Rome in the event he visited European capitals other than Paris.

If he follows his present schedule as now seems likely, Kennedy will fly back to Washington June 3.

NEW YORK (AP)—Some steels, motors, coppers and "science" issues made gains in an irregularly higher stock market early this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .10 at 245.20 with industrials up .40, rails off .30 and utilities up .20.

Gains of fractions to about a point among key stocks outnumbered losses. Specially-situated issues rose 2 or more points.

PREVENT NEAR TRAIN WRECK

READING, Pa. (AP)—Edward J. Heere, who lives in suburban Laureldale near the Reading Co. railroad tracks, heard a strange noise around 9 p.m. Thursday night and upon investigation found that tons of rock abutment had topped from a mountain onto the tracks.

Heere, who was aware that a passenger train comes through Laureldale from New York on its way to Harrisburg, Pa., about 9:20 immediately phoned the Reading Co. dispatcher here.

The dispatcher took precautions to reroute the train.

TRAIN WAS DELAYED

As it was, however, the train, delayed in New York by bad weather was about 30 minutes late arriving in Reading.

The passengers were completely unaware of what had transpired.

Meanwhile, crews worked to clear the tracks. A construction official said he believed the vibrations of passing trains had shaken loose the rock and that rainy weather also was a contributing factor.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

Churches And Highways Are Filled Sunday: Adams countians ushered in Holy Week Sunday with prayer — and the greatest amount of travel since the days before the recent war.

Thousands jammed the county's churches for Palm Sunday services as the churches began the traditional series of services that will end joyously next Sunday, Easter Sunday, with the celebration of the resurrection of Christ, and reach a climax Friday, the anniversary of the death on the Cross of the Founder of Christianity.

With bright skies and warm weather marking the day, the streets of the towns were a riot of colors as hundreds garbed in spring finery attended the Sunday morning services.

Gen. Weikert Returns To U.S. For New Duties: Brigadier General John M. Weikert, commanding general of the 7th Fighter Wing, has announced that he will return to Washington in the rear future for a new assignment.

On July 1, 1944, General Weikert, then a colonel, was assigned as commanding officer to the 7th Fighter Wing. Since that time he has commanded the Wing, and as its original and only commander, he has been responsible for its growth, extensive training of crews, Hawaiian air defense activities, the aid of friendly planes which have been lost, and assisting the Navy Air Sea Rescue Service in the rescuing of flying personnel who have been forced down at sea. Since its inception, the 7th Fighter Wing has been assigned various fighter groups, air service squadrons, nightfighter squadrons, signal air warning battalions, fighter control squadrons, tow target squadrons, emergency rescue boat squadrons, photo reconnaissance squadrons, and one heavy bombardment group.

Epidemic Of Measles Hits Local School: The local epidemic of measles reached a new peak today among the pupils at the High Street school building where 81 of the 222 enrolled were absent today. Most of them are ill with German measles or "regular" measles. In one room more than half of the pupils were out today.

Principal Clair Van Dyke said there are as many pupils absent now as during the worst epidemic of colds and grip early in the winter.

High Street absences mounted throughout last week but reached a new high today in the lower grades. While fourth grade pupils were present in almost usual numbers, one room of second graders taught by Miss Margaret Peters reported 19 absent. There are 29 pupils enrolled there.

Nimrods Seek Wilt Trout In County Waters: The county Fsh and Game Association, working in cooperation with the state department, put "several thousands" of brook, rainbow and brown trout in the county's streams during the first part of March, and additional trout were stocked last fall.

Starting at 5 o'clock this morning, Adams county's fishermen went "over the top" in an effort to get them all out of the streams again.

The campaign to eliminate salve-linus fontinalis from the county's streams with D-Day, H-hour at 0500 (Official U. S. Army time) today began several weeks ago when fishermen started to prepare their equipment.

In June, 1943, he returned to Fort Benning, for another tour of duty with the Infantry. In October of 1943 he was assigned at the Army Service Forces Training Center until November 1944 when he was transferred to the New York Port of Embarkment, and the Seattle Port of Embarkment, his last permanent duty station.

Today's Talk

SAVE THAT "PEP"

None of us ever knows when we are to be called upon for our choicest reserves.

If you worry so much about things that you think MAY happen, you will have no strength to withstand some really great crisis that does happen.

Save that "pep" of yours. Store it—build upon its outer edges—holding the choicest of your vital forces for vital emergencies.

I have in mind a man who has never gotten anywhere. Yet he was well educated, had a pleasing personality and the necessary mind to make a fine success. But he had so much "pep" that he burned it up every minute of the day. He fairly boiled and bubbled with it. The result, after many years, is that he is not much farther along, than when he started. He is past middle life—still expecting some day to be a great man. But he never will be. He has scattered too much.

The man who makes the most fuss about being busy isn't always the man who gets the most done.

Those who accomplish most are usually those who have a simple set of rules to guide them, and who go ahead with few motions and get the thing at hand—done.

Save that "pep."

There is no greater heritage for success and happiness than to have this fine, thrilling force that does so much to give confidence and put fight and determination into one. But it mustn't be wasted, thrown away into midair, or allowed to leak away to no purpose whatever.

Try to eliminate the unnecessary steps, movements, and efforts that do not immediately contribute to the work at hand.

Save that "pep"!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Plus Thought"

Just Folks

USELESS

What's the use of fretting
When the joys you want slip by?
What's the use of getting
Glum of lip and dull of eye?
What's the use of moping
When your skies are dark and gray?
Does it help you in your groping?
Does it ever smooth the way?

Did a whimper ever lighten
Any burden that your bore?
Did a glum face ever brighten
Any sky that's gone before?
When you let a trouble fret you
And you put away your smile,
Does your growling ever get you
Any pleasure worth the while?

You can't fret away your sorrows;
You can't mope away your care.
You can reach the glad tomorrows
If the troubled ones you bear.
But your growling and your whining,
And your face that's sour and glum,
Will not start the sun to shining
Or hasten joys to come.

Kennedy, Adenauer Agree NATO Must Defend Itself

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer have agreed that the North Atlantic alliance must be prepared to defend itself with all military means.

This agreement was set forth in a joint communique issued Thursday by the two Western leaders on the conclusion of their third meeting.

The formal statement did not spell out what "military means" Kennedy and Adenauer had in mind. But, U.S. officials said nuclear as well as conventional weapons are included.

Kennedy and Adenauer had discussed proposals for giving the North Atlantic Treaty Organization a nuclear striking force under its own command. The United States and Britain would furnish the weapons.

IS UNDER REVIEW

This project is still under review in the Kennedy administration. He and Adenauer were reported to have reached no final conclusion, although Adenauer was understood to have expressed support for such an undertaking.

The Kennedy administration takes the position that beefing up of NATO's conventional forces has priority over the planned independent nuclear striking force for the alliance.

In the communique Kennedy and Adenauer reaffirmed their support of NATO as the keystone of the common defense of the North Atlantic area.

This was their reference to NATO weapons: "They underlined the conviction of their governments as to the necessity for the alliance to maintain and develop further all military means required to enable them to deter effectively a potential aggressor from threatening the territorial integrity or independence of any ally."

CHALLENGE SOVIETS

At the same time, the leaders of the two NATO members challenged the Soviet Union to join in disarmament and other negotiations to lessen the danger of war and work toward a general and total peace.

And, Kennedy and Adenauer "renewed their pledge to preserve the freedom of the people of West Berlin pending the reunification of Germany in peace and freedom and the restoration of Berlin as the capital of a reunified country."

Agreement was expressed, also, on these points:

The North Atlantic alliance should coordinate the aid policies of Western nations while aid itself should be administered by the prospective Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development and by the Development Assistance Group.

WILL WELCOME BRITAIN

They would welcome Britain's joining the six-nation European Economic Community provided such a step would not interfere with the community's ultimate goal—Europe's political integration.

"Continuing attention" will be paid to the problem of the balance of payments. In recent years the United States has been speinding more abroad than it has been taking in.

The two leaders also were reported to have agreed that there seems to be no immediate danger that the Soviet Union will renew its 1958 threat on West Berlin and Germany.

TROUT PONDS IN STATE ARE FROZEN SOLID

HONESDALE, Pa. (AP) — The trout fisherman's classic garb is rubber wading boots of hip length, a shirt open at the neck and a battered hat pinned full of lures and flies.

There he stands, in a swiftly flowing stream or on the edge of a lake, whipping his rod back and forth, waiting for the big one to bite.

Well, the trout season opens officially in Pennsylvania this Saturday and in these parts there are two sizeable lakes—Lake Lorraine and Upper Woods Pond—that are frozen solid.

CAN'T RECALL SOME

Lorraine, according to the State Fish Commission's Northeast Division, has ice 20 inches or more thick from bank to bank. Upper Woods Pond is about the same. Oldtimers can't recall anything like it.

So, if the nimrod wants trout from these lakes, he is going to have to chop a hole in the ice and drop a line through the hole.

Other lakes have ice in spots, mainly in the middle, but the ice is not strong enough to support a man's weight. Fishermen get arou d this in several ways. The most popular is taking a rowboat through the thin ice until you hit an open spot; then flick your rod.

Will the ice on Lorraine and Upper Woods Pond hurt the trout fishing? To the contrary, say the fish experts. The trout will be so hungry they'll just about bite at anything.

Besides, the Fish and Game Commission stocked Lorraine with 2,400 brook trout and 2,400 rainbows.

Gunman Gets $5,400 In Payroll Robbery

PITTSTON, Pa. (AP) — Two gunmen held up a man and woman employe in the office of the Pittston Fashions dress factory today and made off with a payroll of $5,400.

The two employes had just returned to the plant from the bank.

They said both thugs concealed their faces with hoods pulled over their heads. Holes had been cut in the hoods near the eyes and nose.

The holdup men were described as being about 16 or 17 years of age. Both were about 5-feet-7 and slender.

Says Politics Is Root Of Democracy

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Lawrence said the local political party is the fertile soil which nourishes the roots of American democracy.

"At no other level, in no other comparable way, does democracy involve more close cooperation between people who share the same common goal," Lawrence said Thursday night in a speech for the opening session of the annual Intercollegiate Conference of Government.

The students are assuming the roles of state legislators in the three-day annual meeting.

Lawrence reminded the mock legislators that most men and women elected to the state legislative had been local politicians first.

SAY BOMB PLOT FOUND

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — The Portuguese government said today it has uncovered a plot by opponents of Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar's regime to bomb the American and Brazilian embassies in Lisbon.

A Foreign Ministry communique said police last week arrested Sergio Baptista, a passenger on the Argentine liner Corrientes, after finding explosive hidden in packages made to look like candy. Baptista's nationality was not disclosed.

The communique said Baptista confessed he was on a sabotage mission on behalf of revolutionary organizations headed by Gen. Humberto Delgado, Henique Galvado and other exiles. Delgado heads the opposition group, with headquarters in Brazil, which engineered the seizure by Galvao in January of the Portuguese liner Santa Maria.

Baptista was to commit terrorist acts against the embassies with a view to disturbing deiplomatic relations between Portugal and these countries, the communique said.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

from Go With God

BY JIM BISHOP

"They never sought in vain that sought the Lord aright!" Robert Burns write. He was the son of a poor Scottish farmer. He left the farm to become a writer of songs and verse, some of which are among the most familiar and best loved in the English language. These include "Auld Lang Syne," "Flow Gently, Sweet Afton," and "Comin' Thro' the Rye."

The bicentennial of his birth in 1959 was made occasion for international observance.

Burns died at 37, leaving the poetry of the Western World much the richer because of the humanitarianism, simplicity, genuine emotion, and spontaneity that characterized his work.

O Thou unknown, Almighty Cause
Of all my hope and fear!
In whose dread presence, ere an hour,
Perhaps I must appear!

If I have wandered in those paths
Of life I ought to shun;
As something, loudly in my breast
Remonstrates I have done;

Thou know'st that Thou hast formed me,
With passions wild and strong;
And listening to their witching voice
Has often led me wrong.

Where human weakness has come short,
Or frailty stepped aside,
Do Thou, All-Good! for such Thou art,
In shades of darkness hide.

Where with intention I have erred,
No other plea I have,
But, Thou art good; and Goodness still
Delighteth to forgive. —Robert Burns

HAS POCKET-SIZE LIE DETECTOR

TOKYO (AP) — If you have your suspicions . . .

A Japanese manufacturer thinks he may have the answer to your problems—a pocket-size lie detector, ideal for private eye and curious wife.

The Takei Kiki Co. of Tokyo calls its offering an "adult toy" but says it operates in principle like any professional mode.

Only a larger than a packet of king-size cigarettes, the "decepto-graph" works on transistors and runs on a dry cell battery said to last 200 hours.

Two wires plugged into the detector have electrodes at their terminals that clasp onto the second and fourth fingers of the subject.

The "investor" turns a knob on the detector until the needle on its frontal panel points at center indicating the subject's state is normal.

The subject's reaction to a question may turn the needle right indicating excitement, or left indicating signs of a cold sweat." The "investigator" determines from these reactions whether the subject is telling the truth.

It is expected to retail at 8,500 yen ($23.60).

GHS PUPILS WIN HIGH RATINGS

By DELORES ADAMS

Thirteen Seniors, having taken and passed the Civil Service shorthand test given March 15 at Gettysburg High School, are now eligible for employment as clerk-stenographers in the Department of Labor and Industry, Washington, D. C., Miss Gertrude Little announced today.

Receiving a GS-4, the highest rating possible, were Gladys Becker, Mary Dillon, Barbara Fiscel, Linda Gerrald, Barbara Harbaugh, Elaine Harmon, Sandra Hartman, Nancy Jackson, Donna Smith, Lois Wiles and Pat Ziegler. A GS-3, the second highest rating possible, was given to Mary Lou Bowmaster and Margaret Sterner. GS refers to the "government salary" the individual will receive in accordance with her test score.

The test consisted of three parts. The clerical section included vocabulary, spelling, English grammar, filing, math and reading comprehension. A three-minute dictation taken in shorthand at 80 words per minute and then typed as dictated, composed the shorthand portion of the test. A 10-minute speed test in which the passing requirements were 34 lines with less than nine errors in typing concluded the test.

The Department of Health and Welfare, Washington, D. C., will conduct a similar Civil Service test April 24 to secure qualified clerk-typists as well as clerk-stenographers.

To obtain the Civil Service eligibility, the taking and passing of a required Civil Service test is imperative for all applicants.

REDS HOLD 1ST AS AL GAMES ARE RAINED OUT

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The National League moves into its "second openers" today with Cincinnati's unbeaten Reds in first place after the Philadelphia Phillies managed to take advantage of Los Angeles mistakes and hand the Dodgers their first loss.

The Phils, scoring four runs in the last two innings, three of them gifts, salvaged the final game of their three-game set at Los Angeles Thursday night, winning 8-7. That left the Reds, who rapped the Chicago Cubs again, 5-2, alone on top.

San Francisco made it two in a row over the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates, winning 6-5 in 12 innings for the Giants' first decision over relief ace Elroy Face in three years. The Milwaukee Braves went 11 innings before downing the St. Louis Cardinals 5-4.

OPEN HOME SCHEDULE

The Cardinals, who split the two-game series at Milwaukee, open their home schedule tonight against Cincinnati with Curt Simmons facing Jay Hook of the Reds. The Cubs open their Wrigley Field season in an afternoon game against Milwaukee as Bob Anderson opposes the Braves' Bob Buhl. The Giants and Dodgers swap foes.

The American League's expanded schedule, so far restricted to just five games because of bad weather, counted another complete loss Thursday with rain, snow and cold barring play. Only three games are scheduled today. Cleveland moves to Washington and Minnesota to Baltimore for night games with the Chicago White Sox at Detroit this afternoon.

After blasting from behind on two-run homers by Pancho Herrera and Tony Gonzalez, the Phillies dropped back again in the seventh at Los Angeles when the Dodgers scored three for a 6-4 lead. The Phils then moved ahead again with three in the eighth on a double by Tony Curry and a single by Gonzalez.

FARRELL IS WINNER

The Dodgers tied it 7-all in their eighth on an unearned run. The Phils then put it away when winning reliever Dick Farrell singled and scored on a two-out error by losing reliever Ed Palmquist in the ninth. It was the first decision for each.

The Giants finally won it when winning reliever Jim Duffalo doubled in the 12th and Felipe Alou and Harvey Kuenn followed with singles. Duffalo forced in a run in the 11th with a bases-loaded walk, but Hobie Landrith pulled the Giants square again with a home run in their half. Ed Bressoud smacked a three-run homer off Pirate starter Harvey Haddix and Rocky Nelson homered off Jack Sanford, the Giants' starting pitcher.

Lindy McDaniel, the Cards' relief ace, forced in the winning run at Milwaukee by walking pinch-hitter Mel Roach on a 3-2 pitch with the bases loaded in the 11th. Seth Morehead was the winner. Ken Boyer and Joe Cunningham, who drove in three runs, homered for the Cards.

ARCHERS TO SHOOT

The Gettysburg Archers will hold a 28-field shoot at the local range Sunday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

HAWKS ARE 8-5 IN FIFTH GAME

CHICAGO (AP)—The home ice advantage switches back to the Chicago Black Hawks tonight, and the visiting Detroit Red Wings claim the Chicago Stadium ice is tailor-made for the burley Hawks.

"Home ice always means something to a club," said General Manager Jack Adams of the Wings, "but the advantage to the Chicago club on its own ice is tremendous.

"The Hawks are a big club—certainly not as fast as some, but a team that can throw its weight around—and the ce here is the slowest in the league. It's soft and mushy and it works a hardship on a good skating club like ours."

NOT SURPRISING

It is not surprising that the Red Wings do not like the Chicago ice. They have not performed well in either of the Stanley Cup final series games played here, and got only one victory in seven tries here during the regular season.

The series is tied 2-2 and the Hawks are 9-5 favorites in the fifth game in the best-of-seven series tonight. The sixth game will be played Sunday night in Detroit, where the Red Wings have won both games. A seventh game, if necessary, will be played in Chicago Tuesday night.

SIFFORD HAS 1-STROKE LEAD AT GREENSBORO

By KEN ALYTA

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Charle Sifford carried a one-stroke lead into today's second round of the $22,500 Greater Greensboro Open golf tournament, and if the Los Angeles Negro professional continues his daily improvement pattern over the Sedgefield Country Club course he will be hard to catch.

Sifford shot a three under par 68 to lead a field of 115 by a stroke in Thursday's opening round of the 72-hole tournament. Billy Maxwell of Dallas, Tex., was next at 69.

Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N.Y., and Greensboro amateur Bill Harvey, paired together, posted 70s to share third place.

6 TIED FOR 5TH

Six pros carded par 71s to tie for fifth place. Heading the lot was Sam Snead, defending champion from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and seven-time winner here. Tied with him were Gene Littler, Singing Hills, Calif.; Carolinas PGA champion Avery Beck from Kinston, N.C., and Don Massengale, Jacksboro, Tex.; Buddy Sullivan, Yuba City, Calif., and Bob Shave, Willoughby, Ohio.

Sifford, the first Negro to play a major PGA tournament in the Deep South, is 38 and has been a part-time touring pro since 1953. A sturdy 175-pounder, he takes great pride in his long drives, but his short game was the key to his first round success.

Playing in 19 PGA tour events ast year, he won $8,800, missing the money only once and the 36-hole cut only once.

Red Rocha To Coach New Honolulu Team

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Ephraim (Red) Rocha, who came out of Hawaii in the mid-40s to begin a long, distinguished basketball career, is going back to the islands as coach of the Honolulu team in the new American Basketball League.

Arthur Kim, co-owner of the Islanders' franchise, announced the appointment at a news conference Thursday.

Rocha, who returned last year to his alma mater, Oregon State College, as assistant basketball coach, said:

"The chllenge, and a chance to go home," decided me."

Rocha enrolled at Oregon State in 1944 as a transfer from the University of Hawaii. He played three season and became the highest scorer in the school's history up to that point. He led the Staters to a Pacific Coast Conference championship in 1947.

DODGER ERRORS HELP PHILS TO FIRST VICTORY

By CHARLES MAHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies, capitalizing on three Dodger blunders, scored four runs in the last two innings Thursday night and defeated Los Angeles, 8-7.

Relief pitcher Dick Farrell, who got the victory, singled with one out in the ninth and scored the winning run two plays later on a throwing error by pitcher Ed Palmquist.

Outfielder Tony Gonzalez, who got a homer and two singles, drove in three Philadelphia runs and Tony Curry and Pancho Herrera brought in two apiece. Herrera, who struck out 136 times last season, fanned three times Thursday night but homered in te fourth with Gonzalez aboard.

SNIDER HITS 369TH

Duke Snider hit his 369th home run of his major league career with the bases empty in the second and drove in two more Dodger runs with a double in the third. Snider's homer, his first, moved him into a seventh-place tie with Ralph Kiner among the all-time major league leaders.

With the Dodgers eading 6-4, Tony Taylor led off the Philadelphia eighth and reached first when third baseman Bob Aspromonte—who had just been inserted for defensive purposes — fumbled his grounder. Johnny Callison then lofted a fly to deep left center and Wally Moon dropped it for a two-base error. Curry drove in both Taylor and Callison with a double and scored himself on a single by Gonzalez.

Palmquist, the last of three Dodger pitchers, took the loss in his first decision of the season.

More Cancellations Because Of Weather

More postponements piled up Thursday on the local sports scene because of the rain and snowstorm with water-soaked fields today threatening additional postponements.

Halted by the weather on Thursday were the Gettysburg-Biglerville, Bermudian-Big Spring, Delone-Kennard Dale, Gettysburg-Johns Hopkins and Mt. St. Mary's-Baltimore baseball games. No new dates have been set. The Bullet game with Johns Hopkins has been cancelled.

Also postponed was the track meet between Bermudian Springs and Susquehanonck on the latter's field.

Gettysburg High's baseball team is next scheduled to meet Chambersburg here Monday afternoon in a South Penn Baseball League game. Chambersburg is the defending league titlist.

The New Oxford High School golf team this afternoon was scheduled to meet York High on the Hanover Country Club course at Abbottstown. Members of the team are, left to right: Coach Edward Moul, Steve Alwine, James Baker, Bernard Anthony, John Menges, Robert Myers, John Snyder, Kenneth Haverstick, Wayne Hull and Dale Crawford. Shenandoah Meet Opens Tonight

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va.—Allen B. Hummer's Kiperic will be out to make a win stick in tonights third running of the Inaugural Purse at Shenandoah Downs.

Kiperic, who finished first in the event almost a year ago to the day only to be disqualified, was among seven named for the opening night feature. William B. Casilear's Ware ended up the 1960 winner after finishing second.

Shenandoah Downs opens a 32-night meeting tonight, kicking off its third year of operation. Post time will be at 7:15 with the Bonanza Pool to be featured again.

Kiperic will not have Ware to contend with tonight, but a couple of tough customers popped up among the seven nominees. These include Mrs. Norman L. Brown's Pretty Bee, who has won two tough allowance races at Lincoln Downs, and Floyd H. Horine's speedy mare, Achsah Ann.

OUTDOOR MEET AT QUANTICO OPENS SEASON

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

QUANTICO, Va. (AP)—Ed Collymore, who has fallen just short of the greater spring glories, admits he's lazy and not in the best of shape. But he thinks this could be a better season for Collymore.

The Quantico Relays, which open today at Butler Stadium on this Marine Corps school base, provide the first genuine test.

The relays, indeed, should preview what can be anticipated for track and field in the east this year. As for the past five years, it's the first major outdoor event of the spring this side of the Appalachians.

Collymore, 23-year-old ex-Villanova dash man, won both the 100 and 220 Thursday for Quantico in the All-Marine Championships. Leaning into the same kind of stiff northwest wind that the weatherman predicted for today, he was clocked in 10 seconds flat and 122.2.

OTHERS ENTERED

Paul Winder of Morgan State, Frank Budd of Villanova, Bob Brown of Penn State and Danny Miller of Maryland State are entered in the 100 heats scheduled today preparatory to the final Saturday.

Pete Close and Cary Weisiger of Quantico, Ed Moran of Penn State, Josh Culbreath of the Philadelphia Pioneers and Jim Wedderburn of NYU are among the runners set to compete in the relays — not to mention Morgan State's fleet mile relay team and individual performers. Aubrey Dooley, former Oklahoma State vaulter now at Quantico, high jumper Bob Barksdale and hop-step-jumper Ira Davis, both of the Pioneers, and broad jumper Bo Roberson of Ft. Lee are field event contestants.

DODGERS MEET PITTSBURGH IN 3-GAME SERIES

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates, who just lost two games to San Francisco, and the Los Angeles Dodgers, who dropped everything but their trousers Thursday night, open a three-game series at the Coliseum tonight.

A crowd of 40,000 is expected for the first 1961 appearance of the world champions who will start left-hander Joe Gibbon against the swift and unpredictable Sandy Koufax, also a southpaw.

While the Pirates were losing two of three up north, the Dodgers were taking two of three from Philadelphia. Thursday night however, the Dodgers stopped beating the Phils and beat themselves, committing three critical errors in the last two innings.

MAUCH HAS ANSWER

"Now I've got the answer," Phillie Manager Gene Mauch said after his 8-7 victory. "We'd just been playing too good to win before."

The Phils got three runs—two of them unearned—after the Dodgers committed two straight errors in the eighth. Relief pitcher Dick Farrell scored the winning run in the ninth when his Dodger counterpart, Ed Palmquist, picked up Tony Taylor's grounder and flung it past first for another error. Palmquist also managed to squeeze a wild pitch into his somewhat undistinguished one-inning appearance.

Tony Gonzalez hit two singles and a homer and drove in three of the Philly runs. Pancho Herrera, who struck out 136 times in 1960, went down swinging three times, but slammed a two-run homer his second time up.

Duke Snider hit the only Dodger homer, and it moved him into a seventh place tie with Ralph Kiner among all-time major league home run leaders. It was Duke's first homer this year and the 369th of his National League career. Snider also hit a double and wound up with three RBI.

Stroh's Keglers Lead Tourney

DETROIT (AP) — Stroh's Beer of Detroit breathed easier today as leaders in the classic division of the American Bowling Congress Tournament.

Brunswick of Miami, Fla. failed to dislodge Strohs in a challenge Thursday night. Brunswick, working on 3,036 from the night before, hit only 2,837 for an overall six-game count of 5,873 for 7th place. Stroh's leads with 5,978.

Stroh's has to sweat out the performances of 29 more teams before it can claim the title and $4,000 first prize.

Frank O'Bloy of West Palm Beach, Fla., fired an 1,885 salvo good for 12th place in regular all-events.

Billy Sixty, 61, Milwaukee Journal bowling and golf editor, was inducted into the ABC hall of fame as its 22nd member.

ANNOUNCER TO THROW OUT 1ST CHICAGO BALL

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs make their 1961 home debut today without a manager but with a 75-year-old field announcer throwing out the first pitch.

The Cubs bow in at Wrigley Field against the Milwaukee Braves before an expected 27,000, who will hear old Pat Pieper crackle:

"Get your pencils and scorecards ready for the correct starting lineups."

Then Pat, who has grabbed the starting lineups from 17 different Cub pilots since 1916, will parade to the mound to make the first pitch.

The Cubs traditionally try to pick a venerable fan for the ball-tossing honors. Pieper fills the bill well. His Cub career actually started in 1904 when he was a peanut vendor at the club's old West Side park.

This time, Pieper will get the starting Cub lineup from the head coach of the moment, Vedie Himsl.

For two weeks at least, Himsl — beaten at Cincinnati in his first two starts — will call the Cub shots for owner P. K. Wrigley's revolutionary coaching board of strategy which has replaced the customary field manager.

India's caste system developed from a system to separate conquerors from conquerel into a division of labor. Brahmans were priests and scholars; Kshatriyas, warriors; Vaisyas, merchants; Sudras, workers. The untouchables were beyond caste and condemned to menial tasks.

1 American Left In River Oaks Tourney

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Frank Froehling, a lean college freshman ranked 30th among U. S. amateurs, was the lone American left today in the foreign-dominated River Oaks Tennis Tournament.

Australia's Neale Fraser and Roy Emerson Thursday eliminated the last of the big name Americans, Ron Holmberg and Hamilton Richardson.

In the second half of the quarter-finals today, Froehling, a 19-year-old from Coral Gables, Fla., met Luis Ayala, Chile's No. 1 player. Wolfgang Stuck, Germany's No. 1 star, challenged second-seeded Rod Laver of Australia.

Fraser defeated Holmberg, ranked fifth nationally, 6-3, 6-3, 6-4. The third-seeded Emerson won over Richardson, former Davis Cupper, 6-4, 8-6, 6-1.

Emerson said Richardson lost some big points because he was out of practice.

Richardson, now a week-end player and making his first tournament appearance of the year, said Emerson probably is the fastest man in tennis.

Saturday's semifinals will send Fraser against Emerson.

WILL HAND 1ST INDICTMENT IN CAGE SCANDAL

NEW YORK (AP) — The grand jury investigating the newest college basketball scandal had returned its first indictment today amid indications it could be just the beginning.

Aaron Wagman, one of two New York gamblers arrested on charges of bribing college players, was indicted for trying to bribe a detective. Specifically, Wagman was named in a three-count indictment which accused him of offering two $50 bribes to David Campbell, detective, from the office of Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan.

Wagman, who was free pending appeal of a Florida conviction on charges of attempting to bribe a university of Florida football player, also was accused of offering to cut in Campbell on a share of a unidentified fixed basketball game in return for information on the district attorney's investigation.

NO GAMES, PLAYERS

The indictment Thursday named no games or players but was considered the first step into what could be a widespread expose.

The district attorney's office, when Wagman and Joseph Hacken were arrested March 17, indicated the investigation might turn up activities dwarfing the scandal of a decade ago.

Wagman, when he was arrested, was accused by Asst. Dist. Atty. John Andreoli of paying $1,500 to an unidentified University of Connecticut player in connection with a Connecticut-Colgate game at Hamilton, N.Y., March 1. Hacken, Andreoli said, was accused of paying two Seton Hall players $1,000 each concerning game with Dayton Feb. 9 at Madison Square Garden.

Play Eastern Finals In Haddon Heights

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Suburban Haddon Heights, N.J., will be the site of Little League baseball's eastern regional tournament Aug. 17 to 19.

Mickey O'Connell of Williamsport, eastern region director, announced the location and dates Thursday at a luncheon.

Williamsport is the capital of the Little League. The eastern region includes New England, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

TROUT SEASON TO OPEN 5 A.M. THIS SATURDAY

HARRISBURG (AP) — Anglers by the hundreds of thousands will throw fishing lines into Pennsylvania streams on the opening day of the 1961 trout season Saturday.

The season officially opens at 5 a.m. and runs through Sept. 14.

Nearly a million and a half brook, brown and rainbow trout have been stocked in streams throughout the Commonwealth by the State Fish Commission.

Another half million trout will be stocked by late June.

WEATHER FAIR

The mid-April snowfall was expected to make the waters of most streams high and dirty for opening day fishing.

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicted that weather would be generally fair with temperatures in the middle and upper 30s at 5 a.m. Temperatures are expected to warm up during the day.

Muddy roads also will hamper many anglers as they drive through the early morning gloom to their favorite fishing holes.

The rules are the same as last year. The minimum length is six inches and the creel limit is eight per day.

At University Park in Centre County, the Pennsylvania State University is officialy opening its new Stone Valley Park Saturday to coincide with the opening of the trout season.

STOCKED WITH 40,000

The university said Shaver Creek, which feeds the 72-acre man-made lake, was stocked with 40,000 fish last fall, and the lake is expected to become one of the best fishing sites in the state.

Stone Valley is a 575-acre tract of land resting in the mountains 15 miles south of Penn State's campus.

The university said the project's purpose is to satisfy the swimming, boating, fish, picknicking and general physical welfare needs "of a student body which by 1970 is expected to number 25,000 at University Park."

The project will be self-supporting, drawing its money from fees for parking, camping, use of boats and canoes, and the launching and mooring of privately owned boats.

Flutterby Contender In Coast Feature

ALBANY, Calif. (AP)—Alberta Ranches' Flutterby, with the veteran Johnny Longden riding, heads a field of seven 3-year-olds racing Saturday in the $60,100 California Derby at Golden Gate Fields.

The test over a mile and an eighth provides indication of the chances of six of the sophomores to run in the Kentucky Derby.

Flutterby, Songman, Gay Landing, Mr. Consistency, Indian Ali and Mighty Mine are all eligible for the run for the roses. Only Sonofagun, among the California Derby horses, wasn't entered for the Kentucky feature.

Under the allowance conditions of the California race, Flutterby must carry 119 pounds with the other six at 116.

Flutterby generally is considered the second charge of Alberta Ranches' double barrelled Kentucky Derby gun. He placed third to stablemate Four-and-Twenty in the Santa Anita Handicap and remained in California while Four-and-Twenty was flown to Kentucky early. Flutterby goes early next week.

Christian Education, Knowledge

By REV. HENRY R. EARLY
Pastor, Flohr's Lutheran Church

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION AND KNOWLEDGE

National Christian College Sunday will be observed by many Christian churches on Sunday. In answer to the question, "What has Christian education to do with knowledge?" I would make the following observations.

Knowledgeable Men Of God

The word "science" is derived from the Latin word, scienta, which means to "know" or to "possess knowledge" — ordered knowledge of any description such as physics, chemistry, mathematics, God, Scripture or theology. In the English language, the word "knowledge" is a synonym for "science." It is in this sense that the Bible (K.J.V.) uses the word "science" in Daniel 1:4 and I Timothy 6:20. The first scriptural reference reveals Daniel and several other select Israelite captives being taken to Babylon at Nebuchadnezzar's command. Why these choice youth of God's people? The king wanted "children in whom was no blemish, but well favored, and skillful in all wisdom, and cunning in knowledge, and understanding science . . ."

Nebuchadnezzar sought the gifted children who could learn and be trained to serve in his court. Daniel proved to be a knowledgeable man of God, of men and of history. Interpreting the dreams of the king, Daniel predicts the demise of the Babylonian kingdom.

PREDECESSOR OF FREUD

Daniel was the predecessor of Freud and Jung, less their preoccupation with man's problem with himself. We need not call Daniel, to use a modern term, a psychoanalyst. However, his knowledge of God and the mind and soul of men would merit the title applied in its noblest meaning. Men of the caliber of Daniel, Abraham, Moses, Amos, Isaiah, Jeremiah, etc., were as wise in the ways of man and nature as they were men of God. They used their mind even while God used their hearts and mouths. And why not? Science or knowledge is rooted in a knowledge of God. The Psalmist who taught "The fear (reverence) of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom . . ." cannot be called a spiritual giant on the one hand and a mental midget on the other. No pupil of Einstein sat long without learning something. Likewise, no child of God can remain ignorant in the presence of Truth Himself.

MEN OF CHRIST

It is more than a coincidence that the greatest advances in the physical sciences, including the present day, have been discovered after Jesus Christ dwelt among us. Contrary to popular belief and knowledge, and in spite of whether we like it or not, the truth is that Jesus Christ and man's love for Jesus Christ has been the catalyst agent in consolidating our great stock pile of knowledge of the physical world. In II Timothy 6:20 St. Paul, or an intimate friend, exhorts young Timothy to "keep that which is committed to thy trust, avoiding profane and vain babblings, and opposition of science falsely so called." The epistles of Timothy are directed against the church's problem of false doctrine being disseminated among its members (cf. I Tim. 1:10; 6:3; II Tim. 1:13; 4:3). True Christians despise false doctrines as much as they do the devil (also contrary to popular opinion). Paul would have nothing to do with false doctrine and similarly would challenge others to "know the truth."

Anyone close to Jesus Christ, like Paul and Timothy, can have nothing but utter contempt for ignorance or indifference (lazy cousins). All the disciples save one died for the truth they knew of the knowledge of God in Jesus Christ. It is this influencing mental and spiritual resistance to ignorance that characterizes disciples of Christ, whether in the spiritual world or the material world. Light and darkness can no more abide in a room than in a mind. The Christian takes Christ seriously when He says, "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free."

MEN OF THE WORLD

The Christian living with this lamp will take it into every area of his life and this world. To pick up an earlier point, Jesus Christ and men's love for Jesus Christ, or His influence upon others, has been the catalyst agent in our great strides in our knowledge. Modern knowledge which we associate with secular science today had its origin in the monumental accomplishments of earlier scientists. The astonishing discovery we make when we look into the hallowed halls of science is that it is filled with Christians or men disposed toward Christianity as the religion of light and truth. Nicolaus Copernicus (1473-1543), regarded by many as the founder of modern astronomy, was canon (clergyman) of the cathedral at Frauenberg, lawyer and physician. Johannes Kepler (1571-1630), trained for the Christian ministry, turned reluctantly to astronomy and discovered the three important laws of planetary motion. Galileo Galilei (1564-1642) was first educated in a monastery and later improved the refracting telescope opening up and observing the heavenly planets. In the field of mathematics, the science called the key to the physical world, numerous devout Christians have laid the cornerstone—Rene Decartes, Isaac Newton, Blaise Pascal, George Mendal, (1822-1884) an Augustinian monk, discovered the first laws of heredity thus laying the foundation for a new science, genetics.

Yet, it ought not be a surprise to us that those Christians who lived by the love and light, and truth of Jesus Christ have likewise been inspired and enlightened and given access to God's truth as revealed in nature and the world around us. Those possessing false doctrines and ignorance will fear to enter any area of life. Contrariwise, those who are gripped by God's truth in Christ fear no evil will befall them, even as Christopher Columbus, desirous of securing men converts to Jesus Christ, set out undaunted for an unknown land. Altruistic science or knowledge of the world is rooted in a knowledge and faith in Jesus Christ, the Way, the Truth, and the Life.

MY WISH

Three is such a tender age. Sue isn't a baby any more, yet she's a long way from being a big girl.

When I watched her blowing out the candles on her cake, I felt a surge of that certain kind of love reserved for mothers. And, while she made her wish, I made mine.

I wished, first, that I might be given the gift of memory, so that I would never forget a child's point of view—the importance of even the littlest promises, the oldest dolls, the smallest nothings.

I wished that I might be given the wisdom to care for Sue's body, mind, and soul. And I was deeply grateful that I had the Church to help me teach her right from wrong, and to aid me in endowing her with a rich measure of faith, of love, and of tolerance toward her fellow man.

Thinking it over, I guess that my wish for Sue might be called a prayer. Each Sunday, in church, I find myself repeating it.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

TV IS ALWAYS BEATEN IN BIG NEWS STORIES

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Television will not always remain the hobbled giant of international communications it has shown itself to be during the past week of big news stories.

Newspapers and radio, both with fast, electronic means of spanning oceans and mountains, have been able to beat television to the reporting punch on both the Soviet man in space shot and the opening of the trial of Adolf Eichmann. Television alone still must rely on planes to carry its film and videotape from the scene of action to a point of broadcast.

It is expected, however, that within two or three years, the same scientific skills that put a man into space will strike the chains from television. The plan calls for putting a television satellite into orbit, a special sphere capable of receiving sound and pictures, boosting their strength and bouncing them back to receivers at any point on earth.

FILMS WERE LATE

American television networks laid careful, expensive plans to send by jet plane video tape of the opening of the Eichmann trial to New York in time for showing the same day. But the opening day films did not arrive in time even for late night news shows. The Israel plane carrying the material missed connections in London with the New York-bound plane.

Meanwhile, newspapers were carrying the full story and pictures, and radio was broadcasting sound tapes made in the courtro which included the sound of Eichmann's voice.

ABC has set its forthcoming series, "Bus Stop" in its 9-10 Sunday night spot for next season. Although the first episode will follow the story line of the motion picture (Tuesday Weld will play the Marilyn Monroe part) the rest of the series will use the bus stop as a jumping off point for a different story each week—a sort of "Grand Hotel" treatment. Marilyn Maxwell will be one of the regular cast.

Recommended tonight: "Close-Up," ABC, 10:30-11 (Eastern Standard Time)—"I Remember," a visit to Nazi concentration camp with Simon Gutter, who survived eight of them.

Warren G. Harding was the first President-elect to ride to his inauguration in an automobile. His was the first ceremony broadcast on the radio.

BATT HEADED FOR POSITION IN JFK REGIME

By JOHN KOENIG JR.
Associated Press Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania thinks he may lose his secretary of labor and industry to the government.

"There's not much you can do," Lawrence said when asked to comment on the possibility that William L. Batt might be named administrator of the proposed office to handle federal aid to distressed areas.

The governor's only response to a direct question of whether he actually will lose Batt as a cabinet officer was:

"We might."

Pennsylvania congressional sources, however, feel that Batt definitely will get the bid from President Kennedy when the distressed areas aid bill is signed and the office to administer it is set up.

CALLED TO WHITE HOUSE

Batt was summoned to the White House for a conference with Kennedy the day that the House passed the bill. It is believed the distressed areas aid post was discussed then.

Lawrence, in an interview Thursday, said he had attended a farewell dinner Wednesday night for two of his cabinet members who have been appointed ambassadors.

These were Anthony Drexel Biddle Jr., the state's adjutant general, who sails to Spain on April 24, and John S. Rice, leaving his post as secretary of the Commonwealth to be ambassador to the Netherlands.

In addition to Batt, Biddle and Rice, Lawrence said other Pennsylvanians offered high ranking posts included former Gov. George M. Leader, State Atty. Gen. Anne X. Alpern and former Rep. James M. Quigley, D—Pa. Quigley accepted appointment as assistant secretary of health, education and welfare.

KIDNAP PLOT CALLED SPITE

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. E. Baughman, chief of the Secret Service, says four Cubans who were questioned about the reported kidnap plot against Caroline Kennedy may have been victims of spitework.

The Secret Service declared Thursday the reported plot against the President's 3-year-old daughter "closed—but not forgotten."

Baughman said it appeared that the four suspects, one reportedly a woman, were telling the truth when they denied hatching any plot against Caroline. Baughman said the four were questioned "somewhere near Miami" about a week ago and denied everything.

Baughman said the four were kept under close surveillance by the Secret Service. Actually, he said, they are against the present Havana regime, but recently made trips back to Cuba to see if their home was intact.

A reported remark of a Cuban employe in a Miami garment plant touched off the alarm while the Kennedy family was in Palm Beach, Fla., over the Easter holiday.

U.S. security officials were told the worker had said: "We ought to abduct Caroline Kennedy to force the United States to stop interfering with Cuba's government.

Where will you find a handsomer hardtop than this Impala Sport Sedan!

MORE PEOPLE ARE BUYING CHEVROLETS THAN ANY OTHER MAKE!

When one car outsells all the rest the way this new Chevrolet is doing*—there's got to be a reason. And we can think of some pretty good ones. The clean-etched looks of the new Body by Fisher, for example. The eager brand of "git" that's under the hood. The easy way it handles. Plus the added advantage of extra-cost options like triple-turbine Turboglide.

But to sample all these reasons together, you have to get a Chevrolet out on the road. And there's where that Jet-smooth ride takes over with its own gentle kind of persuasion. If you weren't absolutely sure, you'd imagine you were riding in a far costlier car.

AND JUST ONE JET-SMOOTH RIDE WILL SHOW YOU WHY!

No wonder people are buying more Chevrolets than any other make! Chevrolets have more of what it takes to please people!

JET-SMOOTH RIDE CHEVROLET

Russians Give Its Space Traveler Noisy Ovation In Moscow; KissedByPremier

MOSCOW (AP)—Moscow took space traveler Yuri Gagarin to its bosom today in historic Red Square with an outpouring of pride and joy beyond anything in the Soviet Union's history.

The cosmonaut, heading a motorcade from Vnukovo Airport, arrived in the square at 2:20 a.m.

Gagarin's arrival in the huge square climaxed a triumphant automobile ride from the airfield, where he had landed from his secret space base to a tumultuous ovation an hour and a half before.

Beaming proudly, Premier Khrushchev accompanied the Soviet Union's new hero to the most honored spot in the Soviet Union, the top of the Lenin-Stalin tomb. With members of the ruling presidium around them, they waved to the cheering thousands jamming the square.

"MISSION ACCOMPLISHED"

Flown to Moscow from an unidentified airfield near the landing point of his space flight, Gagarin stood to attention before his premier, saluted and reported completion of his mission and his readiness for new orders.

"Comrade, first secretary of the Communist party of the Soviet Union, chairman of the council of ministers of the U.S.S.R.," he said, "I am happy to report that the task assigned by the central committee of the Communist party of the Soviet Union and the Soviet government has been fulfilled.

"The world's first manned space flight took place April 12. All the technical systems worked well, and I felt fine.

"I am ready to fulfill any new tasks for the homeland."

HUGGED BY PREMIER

The short, pudgy Soviet leader wrapped his burly arms around the hero—who is only about the same height—kissed him squarely on the mouth, and then several times to the right and left of the mouth.

More kisses followed, this time from Gagarin's wife, Valentina, smartly dressed in a fur-collared coat and a fashionable blue spring hat, from his plump, beaming mother, Anna, a woolen shawl over her head, and from his father, Alexei, who looked as if he'd stepped from a Chekhov play, in a dark blue overcoat, a blue worker's cap, and walking with a stick. The father broke into tears.

THANKS RED PARTY

Speaking to the cheering thousands jamming Red Square, Gagarin gave his first thanks to the Communist party for giving him the "opportunity to carry out the first flight into space."

"As I was about to be launched into space," he added, "I was thinking about the party, the people and my country."

"It's from those feelings and that inspiration that I had strength to carry out the task," he said.

Speaking from notes with the poise of an accomplished orator, he looked to the right and left and then straight ahead, taking in people in all parts of the audience.

He paid high tribute to those who made his space ship and added: "Never for a single moment did I have doubts about the mission."

EYES FURTHER FLIGHTS

Gagarin looked wonderful, in superb health and showing no ill effects whatsoever from his history-making flight.

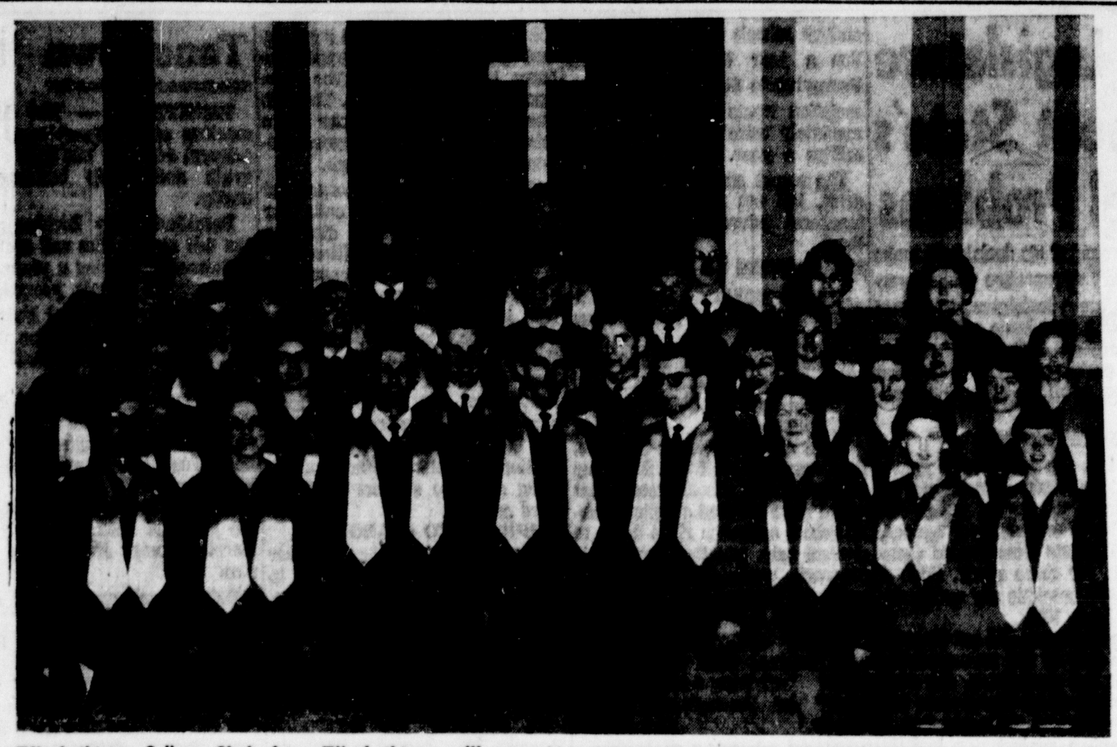

"I'm sure we—the Soviet fliers—will carry out further flights to greater distances," Yuri told the throng in the square.

"I'm sure that our pilots will be able to carry out any flight in the future."

Then he concluded: "Long live the Communist party, long live the Soviet people, long live comrade Khrushchev."

The premier in his response compared Gagarin to Columbus and said the space pioneers' "name will live forever in the history of mankind."

"With this flight we once again have shown to the world what the genius of our country can achieve," he declared.

The Elizabethtown College Choir from Elizabethtown will present a concert of sacred music on Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the Gettysburg Church of the Brethren which is located on the Gettysburg-Carlisle Rd. three miles north of Gettysburg. The choir is a group of 38 voices. They sing approximately 35 concerts a year including a six-day tour, this year into the Philadelphia and New Jersey area, and a weekend tour into midwestern Pennsylvania.

Included in the program is music from Mendelssohn's "Elijah," Handel's "The Messiah" and Gaul's "The Holy City." Also to be sung is music by Mozart, Tschaikovsky and Liszt, plus several familiar hymns. Accompanist for the choir is Betty Markley, a Sophomore from Annville, Pa., and the soloist is Mary Gladfelter, a Junior from New Cumberland.

The director of the choir in his first year at Elizabethtown College is David P. Willoughby. He is formerly from Harrisburg. He received his Bachelor of Science degree from Lebanon Valley College, Annville, and his Master of Education degree from Miami University, Oxford, O. For the last five years he has directed bands and choirs in the public schools of Arcanum and Mariemont, Cincinnati. The public is invited to attend this special sacred concert.

VARIETY OF TV SHOWS DURING COMING WEEK

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Variety is the word for television programs of special interest during the next week. The variations range from the motion picture Oscar award ceremonies to an original drama about a Sicilian outlaw.

Tonight, in addition to the regular musical Telephone Hour (NBC 9-10 EST), there is another edition of ABC's "Close-Up" (10:30-11), this a timely reminiscence of Nazi death camps by Simon Gutter, who survived eight of them.

On Saturday afternoon British Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery and American historian Henry Steele Commager continue their conversations about the Civil War on CBS' "Accent" (2:30-3:55).

ABBOTT AS DRAMATIC

NBC's final "Omnibus" of the season on Sunday (5-6 p.m.) will be a study of the Western Hemisphere. Comedian Bud Abbott makes his debut as a dramatic actor on GE Theater (CBS, 9-9:30) in "The Joke's On Me," and there is another NBC "White Paper" (10-11) called "Anatomy of a Hospital."

Big TV event of Monday is the Oscar awards show on ABC—10:30 p.m. until the last golden statuette is handed out. Bob Hope will be master of ceremonies. The usual number of stars will be on hand.

ROBIN HOOD TALE

"Cry Vengeance," with Ben Gazzara and Sal Mineo, will be NBC's Tuesday night special (10-11) and is a tragic tale of a Sicilian Robin Hood. It conflicts with ABC's "Close-Up" (10-10:30), another study of communism in Cuba.

Arthur Godfrey will be ringmaster on Thursday night (8-9) in CBS' special "Highlights of the 1961 Circus." There is also a Pat Boone musical special on ABC (8:30-9:30) and Ernie Kovacs will have a comedy special in place of the usual "Silents Please" (ABC, 10:30-11).

West Germany To Help Other Nations

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany has decided tentatively to provide about 2.5 billion marks ($625 million) a year in aid to underdeveloped countries, informed sources reported today.

The figure is roughly in line with the U.S. recommendation that the more advanced Western nations devote about one per cent of their gross national product annually to development aid. West Germany's gross national product came to 270 billion marks ($67.5 billion) in 1960.

The informed sources said the government's intention will be made public in Parliament April 21 in answer to questions on development aid raised earlier by the opposition Socialists.

Lawrence Hopes Legislature Won't Forget About State's Grave Educational Problems

Editor's Note: Now that the report of Gov. Lawrence's Committee on Education is before the legislature for approval, the final question hovering over this momentou- study of public education is its chance of enactment. This is discussed in the concluding article of a series on the report.

By FRED WALTERS

HARRISBURG (AP) — "We would be forever shamed if we allowed this report and the grave problems it presents to become just another forgotten public document," Gov. Lawrence told a joint session of the General Assembly this week.

He was speaking about the recommendations included in the report made public last week by his Committee on Education.

This 30-member committee studied Pennsylvania's public education system from kindergarten on through college and came up with 145 recommendations for revising that system, some of them staggering in import and impact.

There has been general agreement among the legislators, educators and public officials for a few years now that the state needs to reappraise its commitment to education.

NO SPECIFIC AGREEMENT

But general agreement in principle does not constitute specific agreement in detail with the committee's recommendations.

As Lawrence noted: "I am sure that none of us will necessarily agree with every word of the report, as we examine it in detail nor that we can expect it to be adopted without due consideration, debate and consequent possible modification."

The possibility implied in Lawrence's remarks was that the legislature would, in the end, file the report somewhere to become "just another forgotten public document." Indeed, there was in the background of his decision to make this rare appearance of a governor before a legislature to appeal for action on n issue considerable talk among legislative leaders about postponement of a decision this session on the education problem.

MAY FORM REPORT

The talk has roamed the gamut of parliamentary alternatives up to farming the report out to the legislature's own research agency, the Joint State Government Commission, for more study. Such a step would preclude any action until at least 1963.

While Lawrence did not directly endorse any of the recommendations of the committee, the real significance of his appearance before the General Assembly was a countermove against any legislative attempt to avoid the issue.

There is much in the report to ake a legislatore blanch.

It endorses compulsory reorganization of school districts into larger units, a highly sensitive political issue. The Pennsylvania Grange, the largest farm organization in the state, has, for instance, vehemently opposed such a step.

NEW SUBSIDY DISTRIBUTION

It recommends a new approach to distribution of state subsidies that would relate costs more directly to actual classroom instruction, but leave the cost of general operation exclusively to each district. At the same time it proposes to drop two special bonuses—for closing obsolete school buildings and for reorganizing—that pour some $14 million a year into the local districts' treasuries.

This recommendation will not be accepted easily by districts who have counted on this money for general school expenses.

The committee proposes a program that would eventually raise the amount of money the state is putting into elementary and secondary schools by over $300 million a year (1969-70). But the Pennsylvania State Education Association wants the state to immediately raise its costs by $100 million a year.

The report endorses higher salaries, but not as high as some teachers' advocates would like them.

COMPROMISE OF ISSUES

The committee recommendations are themselves compromises of issues.

While it has been called bold and imagainative, it is not nearly as bold nor imaginative as it might have been.

Some months ago, for instance, the committee staff had drawn up a whole model school system that would have detailed a typical public school operation right down to clerical help. But the cost of this program made the committee members themselves shy away away from it and come up with something a little more vague. (The original plan was the so-called "minimum-adequate program" for Pennsylvania public schools.)

PRIVATE SCHOOLS OMITTED

The committee avoided a recommendation on the controversial merit pay issue for teachers although there was a large minority within the committee that would have preferred such a recommendation.

It also avoided discussion of the private schools' place in the pattern of education it has drawn, although conceding that perhaps someone should look into the possibility of regulating either the curriculum or teacher certification in nonpublic schools.

And, finally, it merely discussed tax sources; it did not endorse any of them. But this was in accordance with the governor's instructions.

Otherwise, however, there really were few constroversies that that the committee sidestepped.

The major ones have been discussed here.

There can be expected to be additional heat generated by the committee's proposal for reorganizing administration from the district level up through the Department of Public Instruction.

Opposition can be expected to the cost of educating the mentally and physicially handicapped be borne by the districts. The state now pays all of this cost. There is question whether this may harm this highly regarded program begun less than a decade ago.

The committee's reorganized administrative system calls for stronger leadership and direction from the state, a position that will surely arouse the opposition of the many advocates of home rule in all its guises.

Lawrence, however, endorsed the expressed basic philosophy of the committee's recommendations: That the state should insure that money spent on education is being spent on the best education possible and not merely being spent to support an ill-defined system.

DIFFICULT TO CHANGE

"It is obvious," the governor said, "that it will be difficult to change old ways and old habits, to adopt patterns of school administration that fit today's consolidated high school instead of yesterday's one-room schoolhouse."

He reminded the legislators, however, that it was at their direction, in a 1959 resolution, that he appointed his committee and he called upon them "to unite in a determined effort to build in this state an educational program which will not only meet our needs but which can stand proudly as a model for the other states of the union."

DELETE PARTS OF SPEECH BY U. S. ADMIRAL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Remarks that questioned the usefulness of negotiations with the Soviet Union have been cut from a U.S. admiral's speech.

Rear Adm. Samuel B. Frankel, deputy director of naval intelligence, said the changes in his address had been ordered by the Defense Department. There was evidence the White House had a hand in it, too.

Frankel was to deliver the speech Thursday before the Houston, Tex., Navy League.

Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, confirmed he had read an advance copy of Frankel's speech and found parts of it "unacceptable."

SECURITY AND REVIEW

He read it, he said, at the request of Rear Adm. Daniel Smith Jr., Navy chief of information and a representative of the Navy's security and review branch.

Sylvester said he had been asked to review the address in light of recent directives that military officials refrain from discussing publicly foreign policy matters.

What he found objectionable, Sylvester said, were portions of the speech suggesting that "anyone who thought he could negotiate with the Russians was deluded, was obviously mistaken, was being taken in."

AIMED AT PRESIDENT

"I suggested then that this mighty very well be construed to include Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy," Sylvester said, since both pursued policies aimed at negotiating a durable peace with the Soviet Union.

Sylvester said he understood the matter was taken up with White House officials who, he said, "without question" upheld his view.

"I certainly didn't delete anything from the speech and I don't know whether anybody ordered Adm. Frankel to change it," Sylvester said.

Frankel said he wasn't upset by the incident.

"It was felt that certain portions of my speech touched on foreign relations, which are not within the province of the military," he said.

The admiral said the changes did not affect "the essentials" of the address which he said deals with communism.

Mob Wrecks Residence Of Bishop In Trujillo Land; Drive Priests, Nuns Out

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Pro-Trujillo mobs have driven a Roman Catholic bishop to this capital after wrecking his diocesan residence 100 miles west of here. Nuns and priests are also fleeing the district.

Bishop Thomas J. Reilly, 52, in trouble before with Dominican dictator Rafael Trujillo, said police and soldiers put him in protective custody for a while Thursday after terrorists ransacked his home.

"I am going to deal with the government over these acts of terrorism," the prelate from New Bedford, Mass., said after arriving in Ciudad Trujillo to take refuge in a Catholic school.

DEMANDS SAFETY

He said he will demand that the safety of priests and nuns in the western part of the country, where his diocese of San Juan de La Manguana is located. Attacks on parishes there are forcing priests and nuns to come to the capital, the bishop said.

The mobs smashed doors and windows, destroyed furniture and records and battered three automobiles at the bishop's office and residence. Police and soldiers ended the attack.

The newspaper El Caribe said the attacks started after a priest got into a heated argument over a pro-Trujillo business shutdown in San Juan de La Maguana. The shutdown was to protest 'the machnations of the bishop against national sovereignty," El Caribe said.

The Trujillo-church dispute started last year with a pastoral letter in which the bishops urged Trujillo to ease repressive measures. The hostility increased when the bishops rejected Trujillo's demand that the title "benefactor of the church" be added to the long list of titles he holds.

WILL CONSIDER FEDERAL LAWS ON SUBSIDIES

HARRISBURG (AP) — A state official says Pennsylvania will consider the effect of federal legislation before making a decision on possible subsidence payments to workers being trained in new skills.

Roy Schaefer, Gov. Lawrence's secretary, said the Douglas Area Development Bill is expected to be approved by Congress next week. The federal legislation would provide subsistence payments for up to 16 weeks to unemployed workers who are being retrained for new jobs.

"We would be foolish to do anything until Congress passes the Douglas Bill," said Schaefer, who handles the administration's legislative program.

However, he said the administration will move quickly to do whatever is necessary to implement the Douglas Bill once it s enacted.

NO SUBSISTENCE

Pennsylvania already is engaged in the retraining of workers in depressed areas, but it does not provide any subsistence, aside from unemployment compensation and public assistance.

A joint legislative committee studying unemployment has recommended that the state spend $1.5 million for new retraining facilities. But there was no suggestion from the committee for subsistence payments.

The state now provides 100 per cent reimbursement to local school districts which set up retraining classes Students are limited to those referred by the Bureau of Employment Security. The classes are scheduled so that students remain as part of the labor market and they continue to receive unemployment compensation benefits.

Average Citizen Worried, Confused On Spaceman

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Joe Smith, average American, is both worried and confused about the Soviet announcement that they orbited a man around the earth.

This was the reaction reported in a nationwide poll by 11 newspapers to find out what the man in the street thinks of the Soviet space achievement.

In each city reporters called Joe Smiths, picked at random from the telephone directory.

The poll was conducted in Miami, Detroit, Akron, Charlotte, Denver, Dallas, Minneapolis, Los Angeles, Oklahoma City and Washington, D.C.

Joe Smith, 72, retired tool and die maker in Detroit, said, "They can put all the Russians into space as far as I'm concerned. We can still take care of ourselves, don't worry."

SORRY WE LOST

Joe J. Smith, 23, of Charlotte, N.C., said, "I just wish we had done it first. Maybe we're not spending enough money to perfect it right."

Miamian Joe W. Smith, 68, a retired World War I veteran, called it "a bunch of Russian lies." He said "I think it's propaganda to break us down, but they won't break down (President) Kennedy. Flying in space is against God's wishes."

"If it is true that Russia brought the man back and he's well, then it's a great achievement," said Joe C. Smith, 55, rubber plant worker in Akron, Ohio. "But it's hard to believe what the Russians say."

DOUBTS REDS DID IT

"I doubt that they did it," said Joe Smith, 61, draftsman for the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation in Denver.

"I think it's a pretty great feat myself," said Joe Smith, 47, Dallas electrician. "The flight shows a lot of skill on the part of the Russians and I believe it is the first step toward interplanetary transportation if we are going to have it."

Joe Smith, 85, an attorney in Pasadena, Calif., said, "I think it's a lot of damned foolishness. I don't see that any good can come of it."

"To be fair about it, it's a great thing," said Joe P. Smith, 75, milling company worker in Minneapolis. "They were there ahead of everybody else. They were first, and if they had the ability to do it first, then they're entitled to all the credit."

VERY IMPRESSED

"I'm certainly very impressed by the accomplishment," said Joe Max Smith, 22, Washington, D.C., law student. "The United States is going to have to speed up its efforts to keep on top of the race."

Joe W. Smith, a retired worker in Oklahoma City, said "I think it's a great accomplishment, but I wish our nation had been first."

In Seattle, Wash., Joseph B. Smith, an attorney for 36 years, said, "I don't think it makes any difference whether the Russians are a little ahead of us. We'll have a man up there, but we want to be more careful, more sure. We think more of a human being than the Russians do."

Newspapers cooperating in the poll were the Miami Herald, Detroit Free Press, Charlotte Observer, Akron Beacon Journal, Dallas Times Herald, Denver Post, Los Angeles Examiner, Minneapolis Tribune, Washington Post, Oklahoma City Oklahoman and Seattle Post Intelligencer.

TAKE 35 FROM BROKEN SHIP

BOSTON (AP) — All 35 crewmen were rescued today, apparently uninjured, from the Liberty ship Marine Merchant, which broke her back in rough seas Thursday night 40 miles southeast of Portland, Maine, lightship.

The Coast Guard said the 8,294-ton vessel, en route from Louisiana to Portland with a cargo of sulphur, split in two after the rescue.

One boatload of nine crewmen was taken aboard the british motor vessel Daru, which headed for Portland. The other 26 were picked up by the tanker Esso Raleigh bound for Boston.

The Daru reported the Marine Merchant's back had been broken and that her bridge was awash and amidships.

An automatic radio signal from a tied down key aboard the Marine Merchant had stopped about an hour earlier.

The radio operator had sent word about 5 a.m. that he was leaving—the last to depart. He had tied down his key before he left to put a continuous signal on the air.

Some 20 minutes earlier the Coast Guard at Boston received a message saying that the crew was taking to the boats.

U. N. MAY WIND UP DEBATE ON CONGO TODAY

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The General Assembly pushed today to wind up its Congo debate.

The 99-nation body scheduled two meetings today and was expected to hold a special Saturday session if necessary to wade through a marathon series of ballots on three rival resolutions and assorted amendments.

The resolutions range from a demand that the Belgians get out of the Congo within 21 days or face Security Council action to a mildly worded Soviet request that the Congo Parliament meet under U.N. protection.

SEEN AS VICTORY

Because the Soviet resolution did not repeat previous demands for Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold's ouster or for withdrawal of the U.N. from the Congo, it was seen as a victory for the embattled secretary-general.

The Soviets softened their tone last week after Hammarskjold made a standing offer to resign if the assembly wanted him to.

A rival resolution sponsored by 16 Asian and African nations asks that the Congo Parliament be called to form a national government and decide the future constitution.

SEEK WITHDRAWAL

The third resolution, put in by 18 Asian and African nations plus Yugoslavia, seeks withdrawal of Belgian military men and political advisers from the Congo within 21 days. It calls for "necessary action" if that does not come off.

The assembly Thursday asked all nations to consider separate or collective action to compel South Africa to abandon its white supremacy policies, but it rejected an African demand for a worldwide economic and diplomatic boycott of the South African government.

Six Children Die In House Fire Near Elizabethtown

ELIZABETHTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A fire touched off by a shorted electric cable Thursday night quickly engulfed a one-story frame house in nearby rural Newville, killing six children in their sleep and seriously injuring the mother and another child.

The dead were the children of Claude Dimeler and his wife, Verna, who had built the house themselves.

Killed were Sara Dimeler, 15; Joanne, 13; Linda, 11; Carole, 6; Ronald, 4; and Mary, 3.

Another Dimeler child, Claude, Jr., 13, crawled out a rear window. He was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital in Lancaster in satisfactory condition with second and third degree burns of the arms, face and knees. The boy told officials he had no idea of what happened.

Mrs. Dimeler, 45, was carried from the home alive by firemen who gained entrance by ripping down a side wall. She was also admitted to the hospital in critical condition with second and third degree burns of the body.

Fire Chief Charles Bailey of Elizabethtown said an electric service cable running into the house shorted and burned through, touching off the blaze. Electric power in the area was out for about an hour and half. It was unknown what caused the short. The fire fed on tar paper which covered the exterior of the house.

The father, who was at work at a livestock processing plant near this southeastern Pennsylvania community, was summoned to the scene.

"My family's in there burning," he said in a state of shock. He was taken to a relative's home.

Firemen said the children were found in one room.

The firemen found alive and in good condition under a bed the children's pets—a dog and several kittens. They were not burned.

Deputy Coroner J. Hoffman Garber said the children suffered only slight burns. He issued a verdict of accidental death by asphyxiation.

The mother, authorities said, was found fully clothed in another room. She apparently had not retired for the night.

The Dimelers have three other children, all of whom are married and living away from home.

MINISTER CALLS FIREMEN

The Rev. Richard G. Miller, pastor of the Newville Bible Church, who lives about 500 yards away from the Dimelers, said he heard screaming. He said he couldn't tell immediately where it was coming from but soon recognized there was a fire. He telephoned firemen.

Another neighbor, Frank Zepnick, who lives about 200 yards away, said he was watching television when the lights suddenly went out. He said he opened a blind and saw the house in flames.

Firemen said the supply of water was some distance away so they immediately pressed into use tank trucks. But, firemen added, the flames swept the tar-paper exterior and the house within minutes.

Bishop Challenges Birch On Views

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Methodist Bishop Gerald Kennedy Thursday wired this challenge to Robert Welch, head of the right-wing John Birch Society: "Get specific or else admit that you really do not know what you are talking about."

The Protestant clergyman was referring to Welch's charge in a Los Angeles speech Tuesday that there are 7,000 Communists or Communist sympathizers among the Protestant clergy.

Kennedy said in a telegram to Welch: "The Methodist Church will act at once if evidence is forthcoming, the accused will be brought to trial. If guilty, he wil be dismissed from our ministry.

"Believe me, I am most anxious to have you come forth with any information you may have as I believe you will do if you are sincere."

Eichmann's Lawyers Demand West Germany Protect Him

By RELMAN MORIN

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann's defense attorney said today he would demand that the West German government "protect" the former Gestapo colonel from the judgment of Israel's courts.

Again challenging Israel's right to judge Eichmann on charges of having a major part in the mass murder of Jews under Hitler, defense counsel Robert Servatius declared: "Eichmann has a claim against the German state to protect him. If the state remains impassive, he can sue the state and he will do that."

Servatius warned the special Israeli court trying Eichmann that "intervention is still possible" by West Germany in the case.

DENIES COMING FREELY

The chief defense counsel made the statement as he heatedly contended that Eichmann should be tried by a German court. He asserted that appropriate German courts and laws are available to handle the case, and denied that Eichmann came freely to Israel to stand trial.

Servatius' announcement came after he and Israeli Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner made their concluding arguments on the right of the Israeli court to try Eichmann with the prosecutor refuting the defense challenge.

The fifth session of the trial lasted only an hour and 45 minutes and then recessed over the weekend.

DECISION ON MONDAY

Supreme Justice Moshe Landau, who is presiding over the special court of three Israeli judges, announced that its decision—on whether it is competent to try Eichmann—would be delivered Monday.

Eichmann, wartime chief of the Jewish affairs section of the Nazi Gestapo, is charged with responsibility in the death of six million Jews during World War II and other crimes.

Servatius came quickly to the question of trying Eichmann in West Germany.

He said that relations between West Germany and Israel are cordial and friendly.

But then he said: "Intervention is still possible and may still arise at any stage of this trial.

IS "GERMAN CITIZEN"

Justice Landau broke in to ask, "Is he a German citizen?"

"Yes," Servatius replied.

"No," Servatius answered. "His father gave up his Austrian citizenship."

Servatius returned to the attack on the competence of the Israeli court on two other points:

1. The assertion that Eichmann was kidnapped in Buenos Aires, Argentina, and did not come to Israel of his own free will.

2. That the order for the kidnapping "was done by order of the Israeli government."

This latter claim brought Hausner to his feet with a quick and sharp enjoinder.

TELLS OF ARREST

"The prime minister (David Ben-Gurion) told the Knesset (Parliament) that Eichmann was arrested by members of the security forces of the state," Hausner said.

Judge Benjamin Halevy broke in to say, however, "the security forces revealed the place where the accused was found, and nothing more."

Servatius then demended that the two employes of the Israeli airline, El Al, be brought to court to testify about the circumstances of Eichmann's removal from Argentina to Israel. They are Yehudi (Jack) Shimon, chief of operations, and Zvi Tohar, who allegedly piloted the plane. The court has placed both men on notice that they may be summoned to the hearings.

CONVENE ON MONDAY

With the adjournment until Monday morning, the trial now stands at this point:

Servatius has disputed Israel's right to try Eichmann on grounds that he was kidnapped, signed a statement under duress, and that the crimes alleged were not committed on Israeli soil.

He thus challenged the competence of the special Israeli court to hear the case and argues that there is appropriate German law and suitable German courts to handle the case.

Hausner, in a lengthy recital of precedents in international law which he concluded today, upheld the right of Israel to try Eichmann and the competence of the three judges.

Over the weekend, they will formulate the decision—in short rule on their own competence to hear the case.

100 Years Ago This Week... in THE CIVIL WAR

(Events exactly 100 years ago this week that led to the Civil War—told in the language and style of today.)

Anderson's Force Surrenders After 33-Hour Hammering

CHARLESTON, S. C., April 14—Ft. Sumter fell today.

The handful of men commanded by Maj. Robert Anderson left their island fortress proudly, a Yankee Doodle roll on their drums and 50 guns booming as their tattered flag was lowered.

They had endured a relentless 33-hour bombardment. Some 3,000 rounds of Confederate shot and shell had reduced Sumter to smoking rubble.

With them, the defenders carried the effects of the only soldier on either side killed in the intense exchange of fire.

Pvt. Daniel Hough died when one of his own guns exploded. Five gunmates were wounded in the blast.

The Sumter soldiers—65 men and a brass band of seven, forming two skeleton companies of the First Artillery Regiment—were taken by launch to the U.S. transport Baltic anchored beyond the sandbars guarding Charleston harbor.

ANDERSON

The Baltic sailed at once for New York.

Surrender of Sumter was ordered by Anderson yesterday as a relief naval expedition from New York wallowed helplessly at sea beyond the range of busy southern guns.

Food supplies were gone. The soldiers had existed on fat, rotting pork for days. Ammunition was nearly expended.

The fort was a smoke-filled mass of wreckage. The few powder kegs left were wrapped in dampened blankets.

* * *

CONFEDERATE gunners under Gen. P.G.T. Beauregard had lobbed almost 100 rounds an hour—day and night—at Sumter, which sits three miles out in the bay.

But Anderson's guns answered throughout the attack, even while his men were choking on the smoke of the burning fort.

Several times Sumter's flag was shot down. Each time, it was raised.

Capt. Abner Doubleday, executive officer at Sumter, said a shortage of cartridge bags hampered operations of the guns.

New bags were being made out of the shirts of the soldiers during the final hours, Doubleday said.

* * *

GEN. BEAUREGARD demanded Sumter's surrender only three days ago in a note carried by boat to Anderson, who had been Beauregard's artillery instructor at West Point.

Anderson told Beauregard's envoys he would surrender at noon tomorrow—unless he received supplies.

With the Union ships approaching, the Confederate officers told Anderson they would open fire within the hour. And they did.

The first shot, from the Morris Island emplacements, was dead on target.

Sumter soldiers watched its burning fuse as it screamed through the predawn sky to land in the center of the parade grounds.

* * *

THE FIRST Southern gun reportedly was fired by a 67-year-old civilian, Edmund Ruffin of Virginia, a farmer and rabid proslavery editor.

Anderson, a Kentuckian who married a Georgia girl—he once owned slaves there, but sold them as the abolition question grew hotter—took command at Charleston last November 21, relieving aged Col. John L. Gardner.

His father commanded the same harbor defenses during the Revolutionary War.

Anderson's men are fiercely loyal to him. Only one—Lt. R. K. Meade of Virginia—stayed behind to join the Confederate forces.

Aides said Anderson carried with him a memento of the Sumter bombardment. It was the flag he had so gallantly defended.

Orrtanna

By MRS. LUTHER WETZEL

ORRTANNA — The Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Orrtanna Methodist Church at a meeting Wednesday evening in the youth building of the Methodist Church reported a $25 profit from last Saturday's bake sale and pledged $300 to the "Second Mile" campaign of the church Building Fund.

Officers' reports were presented after the pastor, the Rev. Norman Marden, conducted devotions that opened the meeting. The young people made plans for a dance May 12 at the Cashtown Fire Hall.

The group will send at least two delegates to the Christian Outreach Week convention and at least two delegates will go to camp this summer. The closing of the meeting was conducted by the president Richard Hess. He also served refreshments afterwards. Games followed.

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church met in the social hall recently with Mrs. Irene Strausbaugh and Mrs. Grace Wetzel as hostesses. A discussion was led by Mrs. C. A. Sloat on the "Changing Roles of the Methodist Woman" from teen-ager. Young mother and the older and more mature woman. She spoke of the effect her life has on the church in the spiritual as well as the material side of life was reviewed.

There were seven members present. It was announced the district conference of the WSCS will be held at Altoona April 13 and 14. A foodless supper had been planned at the last meeting with each member to donate in money what she would give toward having a supper. Approximately $50 was received. It was decided to donate food to the Warner Hospital Snack Bar April 17-22. The meeting closed with prayer by the president, Mrs. Floyd Hess. The next meeting will be held May 4 at the church hall with Mrs. Frank Newell and Mrs. Floyd Hess as hostesses.

Mrs. Mary Tressler was hostess to the Margaret Donaldson Bible class of the local Methodist Sunday School for their monthly get-together at her home here Tuesday evening with eight members present. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Ruth Donaldson, with a reading "Cultivate for Forbearance" and also offered prayers. The scripture reading was given by the hostess. Officers reports followed.

A balance of $192.33 was reported in the treasury to date. Plans were made for a supper for the Cashtown Lions Club to be held in the church hall April 25. All officers have been retained for the coming year. They are: President, Mrs. Ruth Donaldson; secretary, Mrs. Lovell Cease, and treasurer, Mrs. Grace Wetzel. Devotional readings were presented as follows: "Old Rasmus," Mrs. Elaine Riggeal; "Your Place And No Time For God," Mrs. Tressler; "God Will Guide You" and "Isn't It the Truth," Mrs. Ruth Deardorff; "A Barren Tree and a Barren People," Mrs. Helen Rebert; "The Church Bells," Mrs. Grace Wetzel; "The Ten Commandments," Mrs. Ruth Donaldson.

The scripture study was on the 27th chapter of St. Luke with the teacher, Mrs. Tressler, as leader. The meeting closed with the "Lord's Prayer" in unison. The gift box donated by Mrs. Lovell Cease was won by Mrs. Ruth Donaldson. Refreshments and a social hour followed. The next meeting will be May 10 at 7:30 p.m. with Mrs. Laura Cease as hostesss at her home here.

Due to ill health Mr. and Mrs. Mark Saum, who have been residing at the home of Mrs. Saum's brother, H. B. Saum, have gone to the home of Mrs. Saum's nephew, Glenn Bowman, Chambersburg R. D. H. B. Saum visited his brother and sister-in-law at the Bowman home on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fitz and Mrs. Edna Baker and their niece, Vickie Fitz, all of Hagerstown, visited Sunday with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fissel.

The name of Miss Elaine Althoff, Biglerville, was unintentionally missed in the list of those attending the birthday party on Sunday at the Earl H. Moritz home. This error is regretted.

Buying a USED CAR?

Timely Tips That Can Help Protect Your Investment!

1. Choose your dealer carefully.
2. Buy only from a well established reputable dealer.
3. Buy only from a dealer who maintains his own adequate facilities to service the car you buy.
4. Insist on a WARRANTY in writing that can be "backed-up."
5. BUYING from a NEW CAR DEALER IS YOUR BEST BET. . . . Most new car dealers sell locally owned trade-ins, not Used Cars obtained from Auto Auctions or distress merchandise from large cities.
6. Insist on knowing where the Used Car came from. "Ask who was the previous owner." Most new car dealers will be happy to tell you and invite you to contact the previous owner.
7. New Cars bought from Used Car Dealers . . . REMEMBER, only the New Car Dealer is authorized to extend a FACTORY WARRANTY to a buyer, NO ONE ELSE.

The Gettysburg Times 1961 GASarama Presents

GAS . . . the perfect fuel for MODERN HOMES!

Today's trend of living is casual, informal, and comfortable. Homes are decorated in soft, pastel colors and furniture is arranged informally, stressing on-the-floor sitting.

These things are possible through the uses of gas—the perfect fuel for modern homes. Today there are eight ways that gas units can simplify living and give you more time to relax in comfort. They are heating, air conditioning, cooking, refrigeration, waste disposing, clothes drying, water heating, and outdoor gas lighting.

Gas heating units use reverse procedures to give you delightful cooling during the summertime. This same unit also cleans, dehumidifies or humidifies, and circulates the air throughout every room. Cooking with gas is probably the best known use of this fuel.

The new gas refrigerators feature smooth, silent operation. These units maintain an even cold for safe storage of food, as well as ice cube makers, colorful interiors and automatic defrosting. There'll be no more smelly garbage or trash if you have a gas waste disposer in either the basement or utility room. Mrs. Homemaker can do her washing, whether it's midnight or a social luncheon is in progress with a combination washer-dryer.

From early morning to late at night, hot water is always at your finger tip with gas-fired water heaters. The newest use of gas is for patio or driveway lights that give a soft, warm glow.

A FREE STANDING RANGE WITH THE "BUILT-IN LOOK" is typical of the many new innovations in today's gas ranges. There are many styles and designs from which you may choose. Whether it's the free standing "Built-In" type above, or the free standing model shown below, you get new cooking cleanliness with today's Gold Star Award Gas Ranges . . . smokeless, close door broiling, burner-with-a-brain, automatic clock control, oven meat thermometer, rotisserie.

YEAR ROUND GAS AIR CONDITIONING is becoming increasingly popular throughout the country. With gas you can have either a central cooling-heating unit, or you may simply add a gas cooling unit to your present forced air gas heating system. With either unit you get "WHOLE-HOUSE" cooling and heating, not just one room as with other units. Your gas company will give you a free survey, estimate and complete job layout.

THERE'LL BE NO defrosting problems for this lucky homemaker with her new RCA Whirlpool Gas Refrigerator. Even the frozen food packages will not freeze to the shelves, nor will they be frost covered. Other features include jet-cold meat chest, automatic ice-maker, in-a-door shelves.

PENNY-A-LOAD GAS CLOTHES DRYERS put an end to "blue Mondays." Fast gas clothes drying matches any washer speed, never any waiting. And with gas you'll find that it costs less to operate and maintain, so easy to install. A "FAMILY-RATED" gas water heater not only meets all your washday demands, but all other uses as well. Only a "Family-Rated" gas water heater gives you unsurpassed service at lowest cost.

GAS WASTE DISPOSERS eliminate unsightly garbage and trash areas. They dispose of all burnable household garbage and trash without smoke, without odor, without noise. They're easily installed in basement, utility room or garage. All this convenience for just pennies a day.

VERSATILE GAS HEATS SPOT SAY EXPERTS

Would you like to use your summer home in cooler weather? Have you recently added another room to your home? Could you use the extra living space if the sun porch were heated? Is the bathroom cold in the morning? Is the new recreation room hard to heat?

These problems, and many more, can be solved with one or another of the kinds of gas heating equipment that are available today. According to the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, today's heating engineers have more and better gas equipment to work with than ever before.

For example, your summer home probably can be heated with a wall furnace or room heater. At very little cost you can heat the house and arrange for the extra cool fall weekend. In fact, in smaller homes it does the job all winter long.

As far as the extra room is concerned, a gas wall furnace may be just the thing, requiring no extra radiators or convectors, with the consequent additional cost of new ducts or pipes.

EYE GAS UNITS

When a growing family is looking for a way to make greater use of the sun porch they often turn to direct-heating units fired by gas. These can be individually controlled, like all gas heating equipment, and they operate economically.

A small gas heater in the bathroom, where early risers often feel the need for heat, will do a quick comfortizing job and can be shut off without affecting the rest of the house and the thermostatic control of the central heating system.

Sometimes basement recreation rooms are difficult to heat. When a basement is partitioned to provide the extra living space, a direct heating unit may be far more practical than the installation of ducts or pipes.

These are a few of the examples of the many types of gas heating equipment and their use for clean, instant heat production. Others include such traditional units as the gas log or the simulated "coal basket" that has the appearance of a coal fire. A simple and decorative installation is the gas fireplace insert, mounted in a metal panel that covers the fireplace or mantel opening.

Small and stylish cabinet circulators are used in many rooms to provide gas heat directly when the central heating system cannot be extended economically. Safely insulated and available in a wide variety of colors, such units occupy limited space and can add welcome decor to the room. Again, installation is a simple matter.

The versatility of gas heating equipment brings four major advantages to any home, according t GAMA.

It enhances the value of the home.

It is usually the least expensive form of heating.

There is economy in maintenance.

Service lines are underground and unaffected by weather conditions.

Whatever heating plans you may have, the trade group suggests that you consult your gas heating contractor or the utility representative.

He'll have a gas heat answer.

SOVIET WOMAN IN GOOD TALKER IN SPACE FIELD

By EUGENE LEVIN

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — A trim little woman who looks more like Judy Garland than a Soviet scientist is proving to be the not-so-secret Soviet weapon in the space propaganda war.

She is Alla Massevitch, 39, mother of a 7-year-old daughter, who heads the Soviet satellite tracking program but spends considerable time outside of the Soviet Union lecturing on the conquest of space.

There is no doubt whose conquest she is talking about.

Mrs. Massevitch has made her own conquest.

PERT, SMALL, PRETTY

For several weeks she toured Italy lecturing. Then she came to the International Space Science Symposium in Florence.

Think of a Soviet woman scientist. A husky, buxom woman with a stony face?

Not Mrs. Massevitch. She has the kind of pert, small, slightly roundish figure that Judy Garland had singing "Somewhere Over the Rainbow."

Mrs. Massevitch's sandy hair is usually waved, and she even uses a touch of lipstick — a revolution of a kind for the Soviet Union.

Her dresses fit and are chic.

Thursday night Mrs. Massevitch spoke at a public meeting sponsored by the city of Florence.

It was a simple lecture along these lines: Once man looked at the stars, then he invented a telescope, now he has made satellites and rockets to fly out there among the stars.

Again cheers.

She said a man has flown into space and "I am sure there are many in this room who envy him." More cheers.

"I envy him very much."

That comment stopped the show.

When the cheers died down she concluded: "One day a man will fly to another planet. We will have to say to the inhabitants of the other planet that we are from earth. Not from a country, but from earth! So let us settle our problems on earth peacefully."

Complete Stocking Before Fish Season

HARRISBURG (AP) — Stocking of most of the Commonwealth's trout waters will be completed prior to the April 15 opening of the trout season, the State Fish Commission reports.

Dewey Sorenon, commission superintendent of hatcheries, said on Wednesday the commission is planting 1,623,905 legal-sized trout and most of them will be distributed before the season opens.

"All counties will have received the majority of their preseason quotas by this time," said Sorenson. "the few exceptions to this will receive their initial stocking no later than the week of April 17."

Sorenson said the heavy snows, with the resulting high water conditions and impassable roads, delayed completion to the preseason stocking schedule.

NO COMMENT FROM GENERAL

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker could not be reached for comment today on a report he promoted the ideas of John Birch Society among American troops under his command in Germany.

The report appeared in he Overseas Weekly, a privately-owned newspaper published in Frankfurt for circulation among U. S. servicemen in Europe.

The society's tactics in campaigning against communism have aroused controversy in the United States.

The Overseas Weekly said Walker, commander of the 24th Infantry Division in Augsburg, set up a "special warfare" office that distributed literature of the society throughout the division and that the division newspaper "Taro Leaf" reprinted material put out by the organization.

The service newspaper, which has no official connection with the Army, also reported that Walker had charged in a speech before an American PTA group in Augsburg that 60 per cent of the American press and radio-TV industry were Communists and that former President Harry S. Truman, Dean Acheson and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt were "definitely pink."

A Pentagon spokesman in Washington said the Army had "no knowledge of any such activity" by Walker, who is a combat veteran of World War II and Korea.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two Philadelphia teen-agers were killed and another seriously injured Thursday night when their station wagon and a tractor collided.

Dead were Wallace Butterworth Jr., 18, and Rosemary Drazny, 15.

Michael Bednarek, 14, underwent an emergency operation and was reported in critical condition.

The truck driver, Joseph F. Cusimano, 30, of Meriden, Conn., escaped injury.

NEW BARBECUE UNIT FOR CHEF

Barbecuing has moved indoors! A remarkable new gas-fired barbecue-broiler lets outdoor chefs and Sunday food specialists turn out delicious steaks, chops and burgers right in their own kitchen or family room.

The man of the house will be overjoyed with this new gas appliance for modern living that lets him demonstrate his favorite kind of cooking prowess all year long.

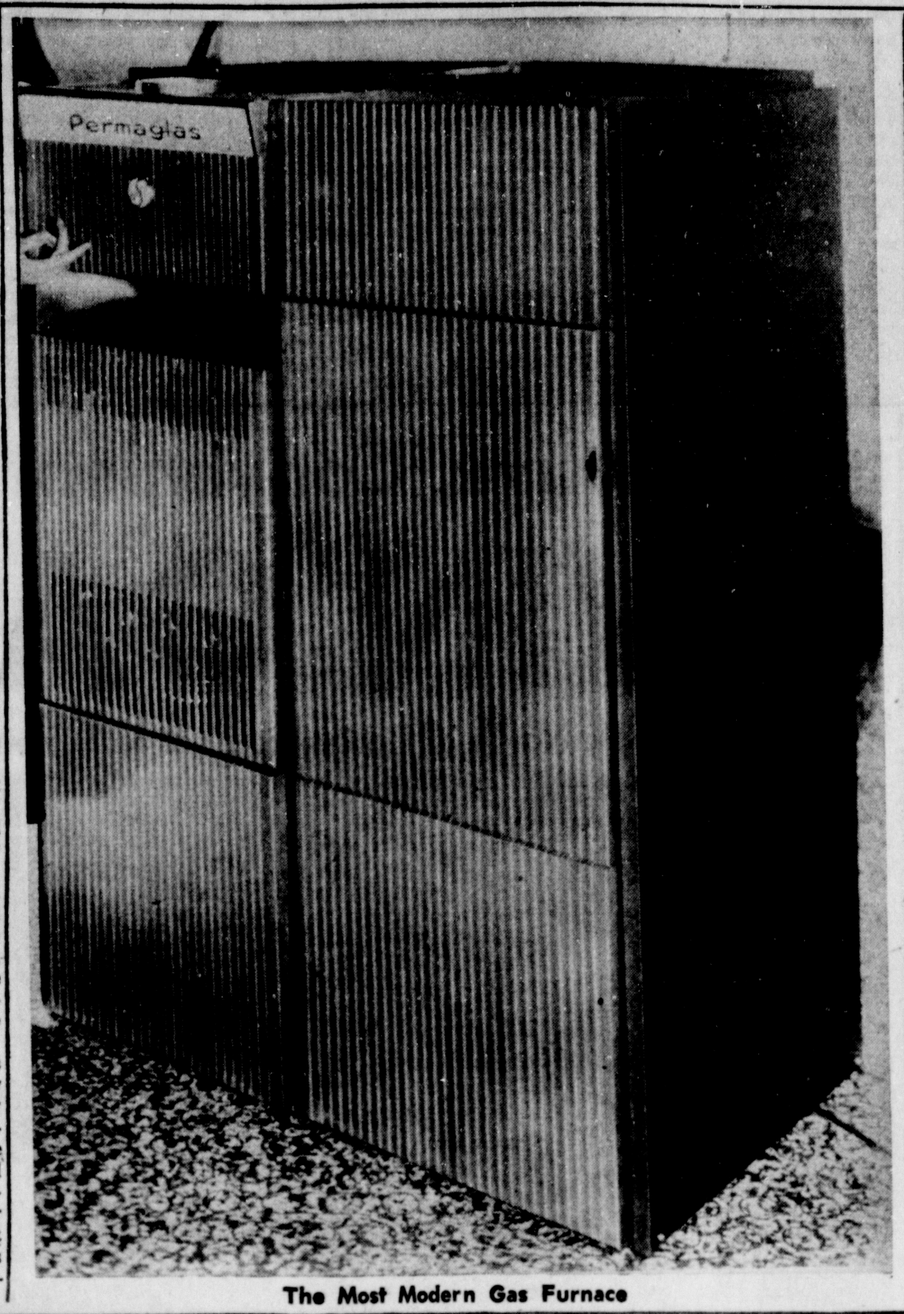

CLEANLINESS OF UNIT

And his wife will be delighted with the cleanliness of the unit which eliminates the mess and bother of charcoal yet imparts genuine charcoal flavor to all food. Ceramic "coals" heated by clean natural gas and a special tilt-back grill that controls flare-ups do the trick.

The unit can be easily installed in a countertop, chimney or fireplace. Designed especially for home use, it offers all of the same advantages of similar equipment found in the nation's finest steak houses and restaurants.

The unusual flavor associated with charcoal cooking actually has nothing to do with charcoal. The secret lies in the intense heat which melts the fat quickly and seals in the natural juices of the meat. As the flame subsides, droplets of fat fall slowly onto the coals creating a smoke that imparts the delicious flavor to the food.

The new gas barbecue-broiler is sturdily built and handsomely styled. The grill lifts off for easy cleaning and comes in a stainless steel finish. Counter-type models are thoroughly insulated and carry the American Gas Association Laboratories Blue Star seal of approval indicating that they have passed exhaustive tests for safety, durability and performance.

The Most Modern Gas Furnace

GAS HEATED HOME PROVIDES MUCH COMFORT

Indoor comfort is like apple pie. It can be a definite delight or a dismal disappointment.

The secret lies in the basic ingredients and how they're mixed. When properly blended the result is fit for a king.

The same holds true for comfort—with one major difference. The gas industry supplies it ready-mixed to insure perfect results. Warmth, humidity, cleanliness, freshness, density and the movement of air are carefully blended with a dash of efficiency, dependability and economy to sweeten the mixture. The resulting comfort, otherwise known as gas house-heating, is fit for a king yet well within the reach of every American family.

USED BY 22 MILLION

Tradition has it that a man's home is his castle. At last count there were more than 22 million Royal Families all enjoying this perfect recipe for healthier, more comfortable living. An additional 1,300,000 families apply the formula each year, proving once again that Americans know a good thing when they see it.

It's easy to tell a gas-heated home. It's never too hot nor too cold, too humid nor too dry, drafty or stagnant, dust-laden or stale, musty or odorous.

Dependability might be described as a built-in feature of gas heat. Even in severe storms or freezing weather gas is always available. It never has to be ordered or delivered above ground, never is rationed because of peak demands.

ALWAYS ON HAND

It's always on hand, in good weather or bad, carried directly into the home by protected underground pipelines. Once in the unit, gas goes right to work, burning cleanly and efficiently in any type of system — hot air, hot water, steam or separate space heater. Modern, automatic boilers deliver hot water or steam to radiators by convection or to concealed pipes in floors, walls, or ceilings for radiant heat. Motor-driven blowers in hot-air systems circulate warm, filtered air to registers located in various rooms.

This is accomplished silently and automatically. Clock-type thermostats guarantee the maintenance of even heat during the day, then cut back automatically at to night to save on fuel and safeguard health in a 24-hour cycle.

Nature's most versatile fuel can also make frost from a flame when called upon to do so. The result is a remarkable new forced-air system which combines heating and air conditioning on a year-round basis. The advantage of this system is its ability to switch from heating to cooling at a minute's notice. A mere flick of the thermostat does the trick. It will even circulate clean filtered air throughout the house during in-between seasons when neither heating nor cooling is required.

INSTALLED ANYWHERE

The compactness of this permits installation almost anywhere, even in a closet, an important factor in new homes where every foot of floor space becomes increasingly valuable.

Families enjoying the many advantages derived from gas heat can now multiply these benefits into year-round comfort by adding gas air conditioning to existing furnaces at a relatively low cost.

Forced-air systems, for example, are ideally suited to gas air conditioning since the same blowers, ducts and registers are used for both heating and cooling.

Automation Leads To Water Heaters

Approximately 10,000 automatic gas water heaters are installed in U. S. homes every working day of the year.

More than 30 per cent of them, according to the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, are going into the new homes and the balance into home-modernization projects.

Installations have been proceeding at or near a 3,000,000-a-year rate for several years, GAMA says. In 1959 the total may have reached an all-time high.

Much of the demand for gas heaters, the trade group reports, is traceable to record use of automatic dishwashers, laundering machines and other home improvements, including construction of extra bathrooms in hundreds of thousands of dwellings.

Gas water heaters now outnumber competitive types by at least five to one. The reason, cited by GAMA, is that gas heat provides quick recovery of water heat. This means that even the largest household water heater models fired by gas are smaller in tank size than other types, and thus require less space and less fuel expense.

GAMA reports that gas water heater manufacturers also have solved the problem of rust by lining storage tanks with glass or with metal alloys that resist corrosion.

'DISCOVERY' OF GAS

Natural gas was first used, according to historians, some 3,000 years ago by the Chinese. Rising from fissures in the ground, the gas was a source of amazement until the finders learned to harness it. Gas was used to cook brine and extract the salt. Transmission lines were fashioned by hand from hollowed bamboo stalks and often extended several hundred yards.

Homes with hot water systems can add a supplementary air conditioning system for summer comfort. Units are available to fit almost any space requirements, indoors and out.

Control Means Freedom In Modern Gas Appliance

Ever stick your hand in the oven to check the baking temperatures before sliding in your roasts and baked goods? Or hand-test the water in the bathtub or washing machine?

These were common scenes in grandmother's day. Today they have all but vanished—thanks to automatic, controlled gas appliances that make life easier in millions of American homes.

The revolution was brought about by a gadget known as a "thermostatic control." What does it do? Stated very simply, it measures temperatures and controls them.

Today these clever gadgets see to it that your gas oven stays automatically at the temperature you select on the dial, turning out meats that are done just right with less shrinkage.

MAKES BETTER DISHES

For better cakes, pies and pastries, the exact degree of oven heat is essential. So next time the folks in your family lick their lips over your angel food cake—bless the thermostatic gas oven heat control that helped it rise just right.

Thousands of housewives know that the best way to stay out of "hot water" with the husband is to keep him in hot water when he steps into the tub or shower.

Here again an automatic, thermostatically controlled gas water heater is the perfect answer. Controls keep water always at the right temperature at the lowest possible fuel cost.

In a "penny-a-load" gas clothes dryer, controls have an even more complex job. They start and stop the appliances automatically. They control the drying cycle. And they maintain the precise degree of heat needed to do the job.

So when you dial a temperature or time on the modern gas appliances in your home, remember that the controls is the heart of the appliance. Set 'em and forget 'em—and enjoy your freedom.

HOT WATER AT FINGERTIPS

Hot water at your fingertips—as much as you want, when you want it—is another feature of the all-gas model "Blue Flame" home.

With an automatic gas water heater the modern housewife gets the most hot water at the lowest possible cost.

That's because gas water heaters are designed for peak efficiency. The gas burner supplies direct heat at the tank base. This provides maximum heat at the lowest fuel cost.

Once the water is hot, fiberglas insulation keeps it hot, reducing heat loss. As hot water is drawn upon, the heater automatically replenishes the supply—but fast!

A modern gas water heater is fast enough to supply all the hot water needed to wash three continuous loads of clothes . . . and still end up with a full tank for other household needs.

What size heater should you buy to keep your family in plenty of hot water? Your plumber or gas appliance dealer is the man who can tell you quickly and accurately.

You save 29,719 Pesetas ($497.80) every ten years when you heat water with gas instead of by any other automatic method. A modern Family-Rated Gas Water Heater is up to 3 times faster, too. See these Gas Water Heaters at your plumbers or gas appliance dealers:

Alexander D. McKinnon, prominent Pittsburgh Home Builder, says—

"I switched to gas heat and sold this house"

This beautiful home in Pittsburgh's North Suburban Imperial Manor went begging for an owner for two years — while it had electric heat. There were many prospects, according to Mr. McKinnon, but no one would buy it while it had electric heat.

HOUSE EVENTUALLY RENTED—Mr. McKinnon was finally able to rent this home for a short time, from November 20 to December 30, 1959. The total electric bill for that period was a staggering $129.33. Mr. McKinnon's own gas-heated home — comparable in size but with far less insulation than is required for an electrically heated home — averages $124 for an ENTIRE YEAR for gas heating and water heating.

HEATING EMPTY HOUSE IS COSTLY — Except for the short time the house was rented, Mr. McKinnon kept the unoccupied house at the lowest thermostat setting — 55 degrees — to prevent pipe freezing. Monthly costs for this unbearably cold "heat" varied from $21 during not-so-cold winter months to an unbelievable $47 during the coldest!

HERE'S PROOF of the high cost of electric heating. Here are exact costs for this house, taken directly from monthly electric bills for the 1959-1960 heating season.*

During the time the house was unoccupied and thermostat was kept at 55°: October, 1959—$4.20; November, 1959 — $29.24. Home occupied from November 20 through December 30; $129.33 (total electric consumption). Home vacant during rest of season, kept at 55°: January, 1960—$47.39; February, 1960 — $21.09; March, 1960 — $41.39; April, 1960 — $6.71.

*Figures on record

SWITCHED TO GAS; SOLD HOME—Mr. McKinnon installed gas heat in this home in the spring of 1960 and easily sold it shortly afterwards. "I guess I can charge electric heat up to experience," says Mr. McKinnon. "You can be sure I'll never build another house with electric heat."

COMPARE THE COST of electric heat and gas heat in this same house. Based on the above figures . . . if the house had been occupied during the entire, normal heating season (October through April) the calculated electric and gas heating costs would have been:

ELECTRIC HEATING COSTS	$500.16
GAS HEATING COSTS	$117.30
Electric heat costs four times as much as gas heat
SAVINGS WITH GAS	$382.86

WHEN YOU BUILD OR BUY make sure your heating system is not only modern, automatic, clean and safe . . . but truly economical. Only gas gives you all these important benefits.

MODERN GAS KITCHENS ARE HOME CENTERS

Remember when the kitchen planning experts gave us "efficiency kitchens?" These provided just enough room for mom and she was expected to get in and out as fast as possible.

It may be that mom got lonesome and rebelled. In any case today's kitchens are big and roomy, allowing plenty of space for the whole family.

The new larger kitchens are just as efficient, too. In fact, far beyond anything the compact cubicle offered. Everything is conveniently located. Appliances are bright and handsome and easy to clean. Whether free-standing or built-in, they blend perfectly with the over-all decor of the home. Mom is never lonely now because these modern kitchens blend imperceptibly with family rooms and recreation areas.

MAKE TREND SURVEY

The American Gas Association recently conducted a survey of trends in kitchen planning and found that the emphasis today is on versatile utility. The desk, telephone and other items have moved kitchenward in recent years because today's homemaker usually has several projects going on at once.

How does she do it? She sets automatic controls on her gas appliances and goes on to something else. While she is busy planning next week's menus, her automatic gas washer-dryer combination washes and dries a full load of clothes.

Controls on her modern gas range automatically cook an entire meal to perfection and she needn't even be in the kitchen. She never has to worry about defrosting her modern gas refrigerator and never has to fuss and bother with ice trays because the magic ice maker automatically keeps her supplied with all the ice she needs.

While she gives the baby his bath, her smokeless-odorless gas disposer is automatically reducing the day's accumulation of trash and garbage to a fine powder. And she has plenty of hot, hot water for dishes, laundering and bathing, thanks to her automatic gas water heater.

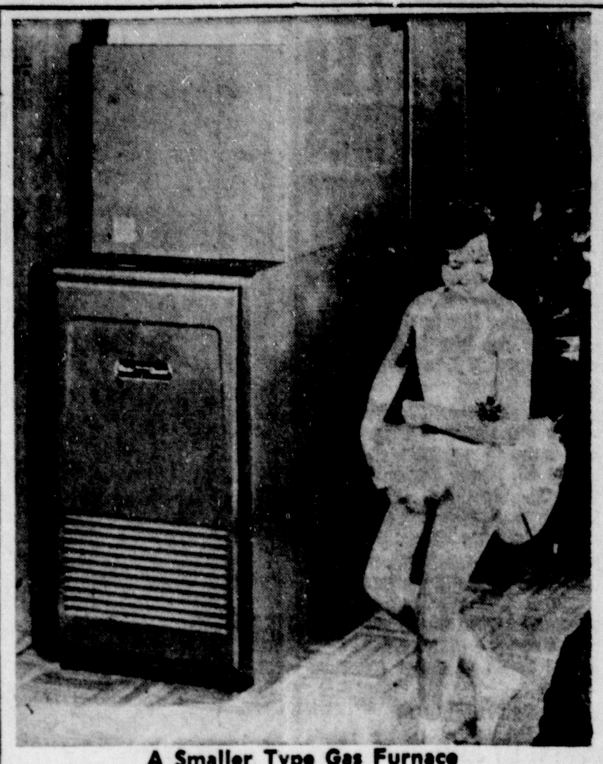

Because mom can count on these built-in gas servants to take over the major household chores, she has more time for relaxation with her family.

The new, larger kitchens keep fatigue to a minimum, too, because less crowding means less fatigue. And mom will be the first to tell you that everything—and housework is no exception—is more fun when you have company while doing it.

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Waves of Negroes with scarletpainted faces attacked the Ucua district of northern Angola Tuesday, killing at least 13 of the 20 European inhabitants, the Portuguese Lusitania news agency reported today.

The attack was discovered by a low-flying military plane that sighted bodies and burned houses Wednesday.

The Lusitania correspondent in Luanda said nearly 100 of the terrorists were killed in a desperate resistance by the inhabitants.

CLOTHES LIKE "GAS DRYING"

Experts say that nothing takes the life and beauty out of a garment faster than exposure to bleaching action of the sun, whipping by wind, freezing temperatures and impurities of the outside air.

Clothes — particularly the new synthetic fabrics such as dacron, orlon, nylon, fortisan and acrilon —can be made to last longer by proper drying techniques.

Reports of laboratory experiments show that clothes can be washed and dried over and over again in a gas clothes dryer without fading or loss of brilliance, ever possible. The easiest way to Less ironing is needed, too, with a gas dryer. For example a velveteen dress, corduroy trousers, or woolen slacks can be "pressed" by putting them in the dryer with something damp. A moistened bath towel or color-fast sponges are good. Let the dampened items tumble in the dryer with the garments to be "pressed" and then hang them up at once.

For best drying results follow these simple rules:

1. Always leave a little moisture in the garments. Never overdry.

2. Dry synthetics with a light load. Proper tumbling action, coupled with the heat of the dryer, will actually remove wrinkles, providing you don't leave the garment in too long.

3. Take clothes out of the dryer as soon as possible after the drying cycle is completed. This will have on ironing.

4. Sort clothes for drying whenever possible. The easiest way to sort them is in the washer—a washer load becomes a dryer load.

5. When drying a mixed load, take out the lighter garments first and let the heavier ones continue to tumble until light and fluffy dry.

Verne in 1872 wrote "Around the World in 80 Days."

James MARLOW Reports

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has avoided shrill notes ever since his show of toughness last month when he indicated this country would act if the Communists didn't stop trying to gobble up Laos.

He used a soft-pedal again Wednesday. This may displease those who want him to get tougher with Russia. But the fact is he's up against a tough situation and he is a realist.

Since last month, when he called on the Soviet-backed Reds in Laos to agree to a cease-fire, he's been waiting for the Russians, who pull the strings, to halt the Communist rebel attacks on the American-backed Laotian government.

STEP-UP RED ARMS

Two days ago a State Department spokesman said the United States now is concerned about a step-up in Soviet arms deliveries to the rebels and about any further delay in a cease-fire.

This was tougher than Kennedy wanted to sound. At his news conference Wednesday he threw cold water on it. He said there hasn't been a marked increase in Soviet supplies and expressed hope for a cease-fire answer this week.

These are some reasons that can explain Kennedy's non-belligerent attitude:

In the first place, the United States is not quite an innocent party in Laos. In a fashion it has been doing on one side what the Russians have been doing on the other.

MOST ARE NEUTRAL

In a land where a majority of the people reportedly are neutral and apathetic about who wins, this country has been backing and supplying the right-wing government.

Russia has been doing the same for the Communist-led rebels trying to overthrow the government. The rest of the world knows this and the United States has made no secret of it.

If the United States persuaded its Southeast Asian allies to go in and fight the rebels—perhaps with direct American participation in some form—Red China and North Viet Nam Communists next door might move in.

This could become another Korea, but under even worse conditions because of the jungle-mountain terrain. In short, the United States might well wind up embroiled in Asia.

HAVE TWO EFFECTS

This could have two effects, neither of them good for the United States:

1. With the United States up to its neck in a Laotian fight, the Russians and Red Chinese might consider it timely to start a crisis elsewhere.

2. The Asians themselves and the neutrals everywhere might later, if not right away, sour badly on this country for a war next door to them.

Further, if the United States did get embroiled, some of the Western allies, particularly the French might stand aloof.

Any weakening in the Western alliance would be so much gravy for the Communists who have been trying for years to shake and wreck the alliance.

REDS "WANT IN"

Still further, if there is a cease-fire and the West seeks to create a single government for all of Laos, the Communists, who hold half the country anyway, will almost certainly insist on being part of it.

This would open the door to continued, even though peaceful, Red pressure from the inside and perhaps their eventual take-over of all Laos anyway. It's not a pretty prospect or this country.

But the only alternative to it—short of continued fighting—would seem to be a splitting in half of Laos, with the Communists holding the northern half, a neutral or American-backed government in the south.

That wouldn't solve anything. The United States doesn't want communism to get another inch of real estate in Southeast Asia.

Before Kennedy gets tough—unless he wants to risk getting this country up to its neck in a war in Asia—he has to try for some other, more peaceful way of ending the fighting. That's what he seems to be doing.

New Gas Stoves Make Many In Family Expert Chefs As Failure Nearly Eliminated

Today, more people than ever are cooking with gas. In many families, everybody is "getting into the act," trying their hand at all kinds of dishes, from gourmet delicacies to that old standby stew.

The results are astonishing! Stews have become ragouts and the more difficult specialties of the house are worthy of the "Cordon Bleu." Yet these culinary triumphs are being turned out by teen-agers just learning to cook, and by husbands whose best efforts were formerly burnt offerings from the backyard barbecue.

The explanation is simple. These amateurs can become expert cooks overnight when they cook on gas ranges built to Gold Star standards.

30 HIGH STANDARDS

The Gold Star on a gas range is the mark of the world's finest cooking appliance. It means the range has met at least 30 of the highest standards ever devised for performance, construction and design.

There's no guesswork with Gold Star ranges. Failure is virtually eliminated by thermostatically controlled ovens and top burners that prevent over-cooking, under-cooking, burning or scorching.

They're the ultimate in modern cooking appliances. All top burners, ovens and broilers ignite automatically. Broiling is smokeless and gives a charcoal flavor to meats. Ranges with two thermostatically controlled ovens have one oven equipped with an automatic clock control and a meat thermometer that turns the oven on and off automatically.

AUTOMATIC MEAT CONTROL

Every range over 37 inches wide must have a waist-high broiler, or a built-in griddle with thermostatic control or two ovens, one with a clock control and automatic meat thermometer.

All materials used in the construction of the range must be rust-resisitant and non-corrosive. Broilers, drawers and racks are nontilt, and roll out easily and smoothly on special bearings for safe, effective stops.

Back panels have a light, clock, timer and extra outlet. Top burners have a "keep warm" and "simmer" setting and will relight automatically at "simmer."

All ovens have an interior light and some have an "oven-ready" signal light. Extra-insulated with self-sealing doors to guard against heat loss, they keep the kitchen comfortably cool.

COOKING CAN BE FUN

No wonder amateurs are trying dishes ordinarily associated with the world's most celebrated chefs. They know they're using the same fuel preferred by nearly all professional cooks, and they know that cooking can be fun when it's done on a really modern appliance.

There's a Gold Star range to fit every family's needs in both built-in and freestanding models. One has a meat oven entirely separate from the bake oven that offers a choice of regular grill broiling, rotisserie broiling and deep-pan broiling. The gas flame gives an ember-like glow and the sealed-in flavor usually found in charcoal-cooked foods.

Automatic clock controls and timers let the cook take time out to watch a baseball game (husbands will, anyway) or even leave the house while the meal is cooking. The oven turns off automatically when the food is done.

ROAST AS DESIRED

Meats can be roasted exactly as desired. A new automatic meat thermometer can be set for any degree wanted—from rare to well-done. The thermometer will shut the oven off automatically, and in some cases flashes a red light on the back panel to signal the cook.

Motorized rotisseries are also featured. Some have as many as three revolving spits which can be used at the same time. Barbecued self-basting chickens, roasts and shishkebab can be enjoyed the year-round.

For the last word in automaticity, oven and burner controls take the cake. They'll bake it, too, even on top of the range thanks to the amazing new top burner heat control which can be set at the exact temperature required.

RESULTS ARE AMAZING

The "burner-with-a-brain" accurately maintains any preselected temperature to make every cooking utensil an automatic appliance. No matter what is cooked on this burner, from delicate custards to difficult sauces, the results will amaze you. There's no danger of burning, scorching, over-cooking or under-cooking. The top burner heat control automatically adjusts the flame as needed. It even cuts it low to keep food warm when the cooking is done.

Griddles built right into the top of the range also come equipped with thermostatic controls and can often be converted into an extra burner when the griddle is not in use. Teen-agers enthusiastically griddle large quantities of hamburgers, pancakes, frankfurters, fried eggs, scrambled eggs, and a host of hearty foods. Even crepes suzette cease to be a challenge.

Little wonder, then, that more people than ever are cooking with gas—and cooking better than ever on ranges built to Gold Star standards.

NEW FRIENDS HASTEN SPIRIT OF OLDER FOLK

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plato:

How long has it been since you made a new friend?

The loss of an old friend is bound to make anyone feel older himself. But the failure to keep making new friends is equally sure to make one actually act and look older.

It has been said that the average man after 35 rarely reads a book through, or really makes a new friend. There is some wry truth to this observation, and to the extent it is true it helps explain why many people complain of feeling old in what should be their prime.

QUICKEN SPIRIT

For as the reading of new books brings stimulus to the mind, so do new friendships freshen and quicken the human spirit. They are, in a very real sense, about the best fountains of youth we have.

Those who don't continue to widen their acquaintanceships as they go through this world run the danger of becoming in time more like walking vegetables than living people. As death narrows the circle of those they feel close to, they become less forward-looking and more inclined to dwell in the past, which is bound to age anyone and indeed is both the sign and peril of premature aging.

Their gathering loneliness also inclines them to self-pity, cynicism and disillusionment with life itself. They are more bitter than hopeful.

ACCEPT BOREDOM

"I'm bored to death with everyone I know," some people say, and accept boredom as one of the prices of civilized living.

But the chances are that such people probably are equally boring to everyone who knows them.

They probably make the mistake of meeting the same people too often in the same places and under the same circumstances. Too much familiarity has bred a mutual contempt. Each has become bored with too much repetition of each other's stories, complaints and viewpoints.

Anyone who proclaims he is bored with everyone he knows obviously simply doesn't know enough people.

The solution is simple. All he has to do is let a little fresh air into his life by making new friends with new interests.

BOOS, HISSES GREET WELCH BIRCH SPEECH

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Applause liberally sprinkled with boos and hisses greeted a speech Wednesday night by Robert Welch, head of the right-wing John Birch Society.

A crowd of 1,100 — many heckling—jammed a high school auditorium as Welch gave essentially the same speech he had delivered to applause and cheers in Los Angeles the evening before. His theme: Communists and Communist sympathizers are infiltrating the government and Protestant ministry.

After the speech Welch held a question and answer session that he cut short when a college student began asking questions from the floor. Welch said he did not wish to turn the evening into a debate.

APPLAUSE 16 TIMES

Welch, founder of the society which describes itself as militantly anti-Communist, was interrupted by applause 16 times. But there were also hisses and boos from a group of college students.

BOOS, HISSES

They were especially noisy when Welch attacked Chief Justice Earl Warren and when he told his audience that the society has "been officially and publicly endorsed by Richard Cardinal Cushing."

A Birch Society pamphlet carries a reproduction of an April 28, 1960, letter from Cardinal Cushing of Boston to a Los Angeles man, in which he said: "I do not know of any more dedicated anti-Communist in the country than Robert Welch. I unhesitatingly recommend him to you and endorse his John Birch Society."

Cardinal Cushing has recently refused comment on the letter.

Demands recently have been made in Congress for an investigation of Welch and the society he heads, following disclosure of a Welch letter in which he referred to former President Eisenhower and Truman as tools of communism.

In a speech April 5 at Stonehill College, North Easton, Mass., Cardinal Cushing said Welch is a "very capable, fearless man who has made sacrifices to fight communism." He also said anyone who charges former President Eisenhower with Communist leanings is "speaking absurdities."

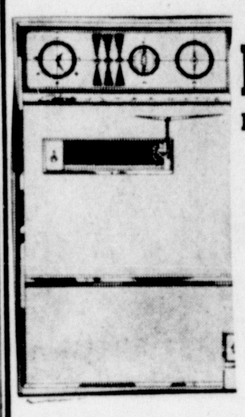

Welch also explained his opposition to Chief Justice Warren: "I don't like him. He has taken the lead in the long, continued effort to convert this republic into a democracy."

He said the Founding Fathers established this country as a representative republic, not a democracy—which he characterized as mob rule.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—African terrorists are ambushing and killing Portuguese soldiers and waging a campaign of destruction in northern Angola, the South African Press Association reported today.

New Temperature Control May Revolutionize Cooking Habits

Automation sounds a bit forbidding to women who have no intention of handing over command of their home. It seems to suggest a kind of remoteness, an inability to stop something once it has started.

"The word "control" on the other hand is more comforting. It reminds the homemaker that she is still directing operations. It's a word, too, that she will be hearing more and more about—particularly in connection with gas appliances.

The gas industry is developing controls that will perform modern miracles in the home to provide extra hours of leisure. Yet, in keeping with her wishes, these controls are designed to do her bidding, not preempt her role as manager of the home.

MAKE HOMES SAFER

By way of illustration, let's take a look at some of the amazing new devices now offered by the gas industry that make running a home easier, safer and more enjoyable.

A remarkable new oven control, just introduced on gas ranges, may well revolutionize cooking habits. Women no longer have to be slaves to the clock, hurrying to serve dinner because delaying it may ruin it. Now, thanks to the new oven control, a delicious roast of beef, beautifully browned on the outside and juicily rare to medium on the inside can be kept at ready-to-serve temperatures without continued cooking for several hours. When the control is set at 140 degrees, the oven quits cooking and starts holding the roast at "rare" for the family or husband who may be hours late.

It means that dinner can be delayed for several hours, then served with all of its appetizing flavor and appearance still intact. It's a way to eliminate last minute worry and confusion at mealtime. The food can be cooked in advance, then kept warm until ready to serve at the cook's convenience. If entertaining, she can visit with guests uninterrupted by frequent trips to the kitchen.

USED IN DEFROSTING

All this is possible because the new control permits a really low temperature setting of 140 degrees for the first time. This is the ideal temperature for keeping food warm without continued cooking. It is also a convenient, safe way to defrost frozen foods quickly. A 7-pound turkey, for example, can be completely thawed in about 2½ hours, rather than the usual 28 hours in a refrigerator or 14 hours at room temperature. No more hours of waiting and no need to fret if she forgets to take food out of the freezer ahead of time.

For cooking on top of the range, the gas industry has developed a thermostatic control called "the burner-with-a-brain" because it actually thinks for itself and makes every cooking utensils an automatic appliance.

The control can be set to the exact degree of heat desired. A sensing element in the center of the burner takes the temperature of the utensil and signals the information to the thermostat. If the food drops below the preselected temperature, the control automatically increase the flame. When the cooking is done, it cuts the flame low to keep the food warm until ready to serve.

SIMILAR CONTROLS ADDED

Similar controls have been added to other gas appliances to make cooking, refrigeration, incineration, laundering, water heating, house heating and air conditioning completely automatic. It means that today's homemaker need never defrost her refrigerator, worry about trash and garbage accumulating, fear that she'll run out of hot water, be unable to wash and dry clothes because of the weather or fail to be kept warm in winter, cool in summer.

The fact that gas is ideally suited to accurate regulation makes automation possible in today's home. Women just "set it and forget it," confident that everything's under control.

26,000 GAS USES

Gas serves the nation in more than 26,000 ways, according to the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association. In addition to heating and air conditioning homes, heating water, cooking food, drying clothes, incinerating trash and refrigerating, the fuel also figures as a processing tool in the production of virtually every consumer product, including building materials, chemicals, metals, glass, rubber, textiles and paper.

The first winter weather observations were made on Mt. Washington, N. H., in 1870.

The Gas Waste Disposal Unit

NEW TYPE GAS INCINERATOR IS RATED BEST

The newest of all gas appliances is expected to solve both household and community problems. For the householder the new-type gas waste disposer will mean elimination of garbage and trash collection costs and to the community it can mean sharp curtailment of the menace of air pollution.

The new appliance is smokeless and odorless and will burn anything combustible, quickly reducing a bushel or more of wet-wrapped garbage, paper, string, wood chips, etc., to a handful of ash. A single control does the trick, and the only residue is a small amount of ash in a drawer at the base of the unit. Once every week or two the ash is removed and is suitable for garden or flower-box fertilizer.

SMOKELESS, ODORLESS

Because of its "after-burner" action, the gas incinerator gives absolutely smokeless and odorless performance. One burner incinerates the garbage and trash. The second burner consumes the smoke, odor and other products of the primary combustion.

An existing masonry chimney may be used for venting and can help to determine the location of the incinerator in the home. Factory-made chimneys are available for incinerator venting. The gas utility, bottled gas representative, or appliance dealer will be familiar with local installation requirements.

Use of the gas incinerator in the kitchen, utility room, or basement results in convenience, better sanitation and greater safety through the elimination of makeshift backyard burners.

Many refuse-burdened cities encourage the use of gas incinerators and a few now require them. In many areas the operating cost for a gas incinerator in the home is a nickel a day or less.

UNITS FOR CABINS

The new Foldaway gas cooking units offer compact, efficient cooking in places where kitchen space is at a premium. Two-burner units occupy less than one square foot of counter space. When the burners are not in use they fold away, clearing the counters for other kitchen chores.

Long before aircraft engineers discovered jet propulsion, squid and octopi were propelling themselves swiftly by sucking water into their bodies and shooting it out.

State Police said Moore's car went out of control while passing another vehicle on the slushy four-lane highway and crashed into the car driven by Mrs. Williams.

GAS RESEARCH CONQUERS NEW "FRONTIERS"

Research is conquering vast frontiers which stretch far beyond the world we know. The provides a striking example of trail-blazing discoveries and concepts.

New and better ways to put the magic blue flame to work are being explored in a vast network of laboratories throughout the nation. Accelerated research activity is being pursued on many fronts: in the American Gas Association's famous laboratories in Cleveland and Los Angeles, at leading universities and technical institutes, and by manufacturers, utilities and pipeline companies.

This program is paying dividends to Mr. and Mrs. America in the form of exciting new appliances and revolutionary gas applications. Some of these are on the market; others on the drawing boards are promised for an early tomorrow.

LOOKING INTO FUTURE

An inkling of things to come is presented in a futuristic dream kitchen recently displayed by one major manufacturer. It includes:

A gas power center which air conditions the entire house, purifies the air, provides refrigeration from cooling to freezing, and supplies all the electricity eliminating the need for wiring from outside.

Portable gas burners and appliances such as coffeemakers, casseroles and frying pans to be plugged into gas outlets.

A self-propelled dishwasher which moves about the kitchen and patio on gas-generated energy.

Another gas appliance under development "center" features five major homes uses of gas in a "multimatic wall" only eight feet high and ten feet long. Its advantages and features include:

Integration of all major home appliances into one space-saving wall.

Waist-high built-in oven, counter top broiler and surface burners in a step-saving arrangement.

A gas-fired furnace, adaptable for modern gas air conditioning.

Concentration of appliances into one area, eliminating the need for separate laundry space in basement or kitchen.

MANY NEW IDEAS

These are gas developments only a step away from being incorporated in homes, hotels and apartments. Hundreds of other radically new concepts are being tested for appliances. Experiments are being conducted on:

Ceramic top burners for range-top cooking without utensils.

A gas-powered free-piston engine that will furnish power for new competitively priced gas air conditioners.

Perhaps the most startling example of continuing research is direct conversion of gas into electrical energy. Two methods have been used.

One is a "thermoelectric" method in which electric current is generated by heating the terminal point of two dissimilar metals with a gas flame. A self-powered furnace-fan using such a unit for energy conversion has already been demonstrated.

FINAL CELL DEVICE

The second method involves a device called a fuel cell, by which gas is chemically converted without heat. An experimental tractor using "fuel cell power," now in operation, is evidence of the practicality of this system. The same method of supplying power for the tractor is being used to propel an experimental automobile.

Major advantage of these devices would be a single utility service for the home. Thus, homes would be impervious to storms, transmission breakdowns and other emergencies.

Through its intensified program of research and development, the gas industry's goal in the world of tomorrow is to be as up-to-date as the newest space station.

GAS LIGHTS IN 1792

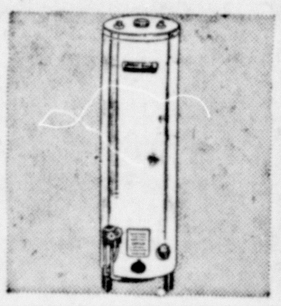

William Murdock, an Englishman whose home was in Cornwall, is generally credited with the first successful use of gas for lighting. An associate of James Watt, the developer of the steam engine, Murdock lighted his home with gas in 1792, and eventually introduced gas lighting into industrial plants.

WATER HEATED BY GAS HELPS FAMILY SAVE

Some water heaters are like "old soldiers" . . . they never die, just fade away.

Gas water heaters, on the other hand, are on duty 24 hours a day. They keep a constant supply of hot water on tap for every household need. There's never any "fading" because gas replenishes hot water as fast as it's used.

This dependability is vitally important. More than 80 per cent of all water used in the home is hot water. And modern living requires vast amounts of it. The average family of four, for example, consumes more than 44,000 gallons a year.

Speed is essential to plentiful supplies of hot water. It can often be more important that the size of the tank. Fast recovery 30-gallon gas heaters, for instance, will recover their entire capacity in about 50 minutes to provide more hot water per hour than 80-gallon tanks using other fuels.

CAN USE SMALL TANKS

Because gas is so fast, smaller tanks can be used. This saves on purchase price, installation and operating costs. Very large families, or homes using unusually large amounts of hot water, may require a 40 or 50-gallon gas heater. These, too, are faster and more economical than all other types.

One remarkable new gas heater can be increased from 30-gallon capacity up to 50 gallons simply by turning a dial. To provide the ultimate in convenience, the manufacturer also offers a device for commanding the heater by remote control. While actually a 30-gallon heater in size, it has the ability to produce almost double that amount of hot water. The answer: fast recovery, of course. It means that families can increase or decrease their hot water supply to meet exact needs. This can be a tremendous advantage when a family installs a new bathroom, adds an automatic appliance requiring large amounts of hot water, or has house guests for an extended visit.

DIAL-LIKE CONTROLS

Nearly all automatic gas heaters now come equipped with convenient dial-like controls for instantly increasing the temperature of the water—up to 180 degrees—when needed. Thus, lower, more economical temperatures can be maintained for normal use with very hot water available for dishwashing and laundering at a minute's notice.

The good looks and modern styling of gas water heaters make them an attractive addition to the laundry or utility room. They can also be installed in a closet in the kitchen. Some are round, some square and some are counter height for placement alongside other appliances.

For expect advice on all phases of water heating, including local water conditions which often require a particular type of tank lining, homeowners should consult their local gas company or gas appliance dealer. An addition guide to satisfaction is the American Gas Association's Blue Star Seal of Approval. It means that the water heater has passed extensive laboratory tests to meet the highest possible standards of safety, durability and performance.

Both Punxsutawney, Pa., and Sun Prairie, Wis., claim to be the official residence of the ground hog.

Save Space, Money With New Gas Fuel

Many households—in fact, more than 200,000 a year for the past decade — have been effecting a major economy that saves them both living space and dollars.

They accomplish the twin savings by converting their heating systems from solid or liquid fuels to gas. This doesn't require changing or replacing the existing furnace or boiler. It merely means switching burners.

Heating experts of the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association say the modern gas conversion burner can be installed in as little as one working day, will work equally well in a boiler or furnace unit, and fits both round and square fireboxes.

Because gas is the least expensive heating fuel in most areas, GAMA says, the cost of installing the gas conversion burner is more than offset by the economy of operation and maintenance. An additional benefit from converting to gas heat comes from the fact that there is no need for basement storage space for the fuel: Gas is piped into the home, and is paid for only as it is used and after it is used.

Here's Another Style Gas Water Heater

VERSATILITY IN KITCHENS EMPHASIZED

Remember when the kitchen planning experts gave us "efficiency kitchens?" These provided just enough room for mom and she was expected to get in and out as fast as possible.

It may be that mom got lonesome and rebelled. In any case, today's kitchens are big and roomy, allowing plenty of space for the whole family.

The new larger kitchens are just as efficient, too. In fact, far beyond anything the compact cubicle offered. Everything is conveniently located. Appliances are bright and handsome and easy to clean. Whether free-standing or built-in, they blend perfectly with the over-all decor of the home. Mom is never lonely now, because these modern kitchens blend imperceptibly with family rooms and recreation areas.

EMPHASIS IN UTILITY

The American Gas Association recently conducted a survey of trends in kitchen planning and found that the emphasis today is on versatile utility. The desk, telephone and other items have moved kitchward in recent years because today's homemaker usually has several projects going on at once.

How does she do it? She sets automatic controls on her gas appliances and goes on to something else. While she is busy planning next week's menus, her automatic gas washer-dryer combination washes and dries a full load of clothes.

Controls on her modern gas range, automatically cook an entire meal to perfection, and she needn't even be in the kitchen. She never has to worry about defrosting her modern gas refrigerator and never has to fuss and bother with ice trays, because the magic ice maker automatically keeps her supplied with all the ice she needs.

While she gives the baby his bath, her smokeless-odorless gas disposer is automatically reducing the day's accumulation of trash and garbage to a fine powder. And she has plenty of hot, hot water for dishes, laundering and bathing, thanks to her automatic gas water heater.

Because mom can count on these built-in gas servants to take over the major household chores, she has more time for relaxation with her family.

The new, larger kitchens keeps fatigue to a minimum, too, because less crowding means less fatigue. And mom will be the first to tell you that everything—and housework is no exception—is more fun when you have company while doing it.

MANY PEOPLE 'EATING OUT'

America is about to set a new record for "eating out." In fact, with nearly 67,000,000 meals consumed daily in public eating places this year, it can't miss.

There are more than 300,000 commercial dining establishments in the country, supplemented by thousands of military dining halls, institutional dining rooms and industrial cafeterias and lunchrooms.

Richard T. Keating, chairman of the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association commercial cooking equipment division, reports that operators of these facilities are modernizing at a rapid pace to meet the ever-increasing demand for restaurant service.

Restaurant gas range sales are up over 23 per cent over 1958, Keating says, with gas remaining the 9-to-1 fuel choice among professional chefs.

"In the hotel industry alone there are enough eating places to seat more than 1,000,000 diners simultaneously," Keating points out, "and an installation like the Pentagon has gas-equipped kitchens that serve more than 35,000 persons a day."

Keating, president of the Specialties Appliance Corp. of Chicago, says that there are three major factors causing the continued increase in the numbers of meals served "out" and bringing the total this year to 1,000,000 per day higher than in 1958.

Infra-Red Ranges Cut Cooking Time

Exciting things are happening in the kitchen today!

Women are still cooking with gas but in brand news ways using concepts undreamed of ten years ago.

Infra-red ranges, for example, are as modern as space satellites. Both use high-frequency energy: One to cut cooking time in half, the other to report information about outer space.

In infra-red cooking, the American Gas Association points out, the familiar blue flame is invisible, hidden behind ceramic burners perforated with hundreds of tiny heat outlets. When heated, the ceramic surface generates infra-red rays so intense that even frozen foods are cooked in half the usual time. Yet this intense heat, up to 1650° F., is always under constant thermostatic control.

This results in cooler cooking since radiant heat travels in a straight line, like light, and is concentrated on the object to be cooked. Infra-red cooking retains natural juices, gives even browning and keeps meat tender.

'SCRUBBED' GAS

When natural gas leaves the wells in our gas fields, it sometimes contains impurities, such as sulphur, that might affect its burning characteristics. To clean the gas thoroughly, gas transmission companies have erected "scrubbing" stations at appropriate points on their lines. This kind of unit does the housekeeping job of washing those unneeded and undesired elements from the gas. The pipes, too, are regularly scoured to keep them clear of clogging residue. Technicians at pipeline laboratories serve the consumer by continuous sampling of the gas for heat value and chemical content.

COMPRESSOR STATIONS

A giant network of gas transmission lines, totaling more than 571,000 miles of pipe, moves natural gas to all corners of the country. To maintain the constant flow of gas to homes, industries and commercial users, compressors are stationed at intervals along the routes. Heavy-duty engines keep the rate of flow and the gas pressure at specified levels at all times.

'TOAST LINE' ENDS

If everybody in the house reaches the breakfast table at the same time, it may creatd "hot toast" problems. An easy, quick way to win the battle of the toaster is suggested by the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association. You can toast as many as 12 slices simultaneously in the broiler tray of your gas range.

20 Million Families Now Heating Homes With Gas

Indoor comfort is like apple pie. It can be a definite delight or a dismal disappointment.

The secret lies in the basic ingredients and how they're mixed. When properly blended the result is fit for a king.

The same holds true for comfort—with one major difference. The gas industry supplies it ready-mixed to insure perfect results. Warmth, humidity, cleanliness, freshness, density and the movement of air are carefully blended with a dash of efficiency, dependability and economy to sweeten the mixture. The resulting uniform comfort, otherwise known as gas househeating, is fit for a king yet well within the reach of every American family.

Tradition has it that a man's home is his castle. At last count there were more than 22 million royal families all enjoying this perfect recipe for healthier, more comfortable living. An additional 1,300,000 families apply the formula each year, proving once again that Americans know a good thing when they see it.

NEVER TOO HOT

It's easy to tell a gas-heated home. It's never too hot nor too cold, too humid nor too dry, drafty or stagnant, dust-laden or stale, musty or odorous.

Dependability might be described as a built-in feature of gas heat. Even in severe storms or freezing weather gas is always available. It never has to be ordered or delivered above ground, never is rationed because of peak demands.

It's always on hand, in good weather or bad, carried directly into the home by protected underground pipelines. Once in the unit, gas goes right to work, burning cleanly and efficiently in any type of system — hot air, hot water, steam or separate space heater. Modern, automatic boilers deliver hot water or steam to radiators by convection or to concleaned pipes in floors, walls, or ceilings for radiant heat. Motor-driven blowers in hot air systems circulate warm, filtered air to registers located in various rooms.

This is accomplished silently and automatically. Clock-type thermostats guarantee the maintenance of even heat during the day, then cut back automatically at night to save on fuel and safeguard health in a 24-hour cycle.

MOST VERSATILE FUEL

Nature's most versatile fuel can also make frost from a flame when called upon to do so. The result is a remarkable new forced-air system which combines heating and air conditioning on a year-round basis. The advantage of this system is its ability to switch from heating to cooling at a minute's notice. A mere flick of the thermostat does the trick. It will even circulate clean filtered air throughout the house during in-between seasons when neither heating nor cooling is required.

The compactness of this unit permits installation almost anywhere, even in a closet, an important factor in new homes where foot of floor space becomes increasingly valuable.

Families enjoying the many advantages derived from gas heat can now multiply these benefits into year-round comfort by adding gas air conditioning to existing furnaces at a relatively low cost.

Forced-air systems, for example, are ideally suited to gas air conditioning since the same blowers, ducts and registers are used for both heating and cooling. Homes with hot water systems can add a supplementary air conditioning system for summer comfort. Units are available to fit almost any space requirements, indoors and out.

The newest line of gas-fueled forced-warm-air furnaces offer special advantages for the home owner who wants to prepare for complete air conditioning but doesn't feel he's able to afford it right away.

For instance some models have larger blower capacity, designed with an eye to future cooling use. This is achieved without sacrifice of compactness; units offering this advantage may be only 48 inches high.

Special dampers have been devised to reduce internal resistance during the cooling operation and increase cooling air capacity, without blower adjustment. Various other improvements, both in gas furnaces and in duct systems, have been designed with future air conditioning in mind. They add to the basic advantage that blowers, air filters and ducts can do double duty, serving summer as well as winter.

Many families obtain gas heat by installing a conversion burner in their present furnace. This is economical and efficient, offering the same automatic features and dependable performance of new gas heating equipment. Savings on operating costs frequently pay for the conversion. However the condition of the furnace determines the advisability of converting. Local gas companies offer home owners expert advice by trained engineers on all aspects of gas heating and air conditioning.

Families have an additional guide to complete satisfaction in the famous AGA Laboratories' Seal of Approval—a blue star in a white circle.

The final test of house-heating equipment, however, is its ability to perform satisfactorily day in, day out under actual living conditions.

Having passed the all-important use test, gas is firmly established as the nation's number one house-heating fuel. Within a few short years it may well be the nation's leading air conditioning fuel as well.

LONDON (AP) — The British housewife soon will be able to buy colored coal to match her living room curtains.

Coal comes into most British living rooms to be burned in those cheerful fireplaces, and black becomes so monotonous. National Coal Board technicians have perfected a process to dye artistically shaped lumps of coal gold, silver, red, purple and green.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A rock fall at the No. 2 mine of Bird Coal Co. in neighboring Somerset County Thursday killed two miners. Four other members of a crew escaped injury.

Boyd R. Holsopple, 39, of Tier Hill, an assistant mine foreman, and Peter Csarak, 48, of Johnstown, were pronounced dead on arrival at Johnstown Memorial Hospital.

They were members of a 6-man continuous mining crew. State and federal mining officials began an immediate probe. The mine is at Tier Hill.

Sell Scottish Soil For Polio Benefit

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — A million Americans have each paid a dollar for a square inch of the bonnie, bonnie banks of Loch Lomond.

None of the land-holding Americans has ever seen his property and, if any tried to find the place, it would take days for there are no markers.

But doubtlessly they are happy for their dollars have bought them a stake in a legend—and they have helped a worthy charity to boot.

The Order of Scottish Clans bought the land for 30 pounds ($84) and then sold it off at a dollar an inch to raise money for the National Polio Foundation. Soon every inch snapped up.

Says former owner John McCorquodale:

"I am not annoyed at the difference between the price at which I sold and what it has since raised. The million dollars are doing a lot of good work."

Eisenhower Ready For Return Here

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Dwight and Mamie Eisenhower are to end their sojourn in the sun here today.

They say they plan to return next winter.

The ex-President and his wife came here from their Gettysburg, Pa., farm last Feb. 8—when the East was clogged with snow and midday temperatures here were in the high 70s.

Maximum readings are now ranging into the low 90s here.

They are to go to San Bernardino, 60 miles away, by auto, and then board a train for Gettysburg.

Kruger National Park, South Africa, was established in 1898 to preserve vanishing wildlife.

Everything Under Control In All Gas Equipped Homes

Automation sounds a bit forbidding to women who have no intention of handing over command of their home. It seems to suggest a kind of remoteness, an inability to stop something once it has started.

The word "control" on the other hand is more comforting. It reminds the homemaker that she is still directing operations. It's a word, too, that she will be hearing more and more about—particularly in connection with gas appliances.

The gas industry is developing controls that will perform modern miracles in the home to provide extra hours of leisure. Yet in keeping with her wishes, these controls are designed to do her bidding, not preempt her role as manager of the home.

SEE NEW DEVICES

By way of illustration let's take a look at some of the amazing new devices now offered by the gas industry that make running a home easier, safer and more enjoyable.

A remarkable new oven control, just introduced on gas ranges, may well revolutionize cooking habits. Women no longer have to be slaves to the clock, hurrying to serve dinner because delaying it may ruin it. Now thanks to the new oven control, a delicious roast of beef, beautifully browned on the outside and juicily rare to medium on the inside can be kept at ready-to-serve temperatures without continued cooking for several hours. When the control is set at 140 degrees, the oven quits cooking and starts holding the roast at "rare" for the family or husband who may be hours late.

CAN DELAY DINNER

It means that dinner can be delayed for several hours, then served with all of its appetizing flavor and appearance still intact. It's also a way to eliminate last minute worry and confusion at mealtime. The food can be cooked in advance, then kept warm until ready to serve at the cook's convenience. If entertaining she can visit with guests uninterrupted by frequent trips to the kitchen.

All this is possible because the new control permits a really low temperature setting of 140 degrees for the first time. This is the ideal temperature for keeping food warm without continued cooking. It is also a convenient, safe way to defrost frozen foods quickly. A seven-pound turkey, for example, can be completely thawed in about 2½ hours, rather than the usual 28 hours in a refrigerator or 14 hours at room temperature. No more hours of waiting and no need to fret if she forgets to take food out of the freezer ahead of time.

TOP OF RANGE

For cooking on top of the range, the gas industry has developed a thermostatic control called "the burner-with-a-brain" because it actually thinks for itself and makes every cooking utensil an automatic appliance. The control can be set to the exact degree of heat desired. A sensing element in the center of the burner takes the temperature of the utensil and signals the information to the thermostat. If the food drops below the pre-selected temperature, the control automatically increases the flame. When the cooking is done, it cuts the flame low to keep the food warm until ready to serve.

Similar controls have been added to other gas appliances to make cooking, refrigeration, incineration, laundering, water heating, house heating and air conditioning completely automatic. It means that today's homemaker need never defrost her refrigerator, worry about trash and garbage accumulating, fear that she'll run out of hot water, be unable to wash and dry clothes because of the weather or fail to be kept warm in winter, cool in summer.

The fact that gas is ideally suited to accurate regulation makes automation possible in today's home. Women just "set it and forget it," confident that everything is under control.

CONERLY GOES YEAR-TO-YEAR

NEW YORK (AP) — For the past three or four years the New York football Giants have been looking for a replacement for Charley Conerly without much success. And you can look for the old guy from Mississippi to be back as quarterback pitching passes as usual next fall.

Conerly, 39 years old and with greying hair showing under the 10-gallon hat he wore, was in New York Thursday to make a television commercial. During timeouts, he made a few observations about football.

"I've been going along on a year-to-year basis and I'll continue to do so as long as I feel up to the job and as long as they want me," he said. "I'm going to meet Jack Mara (the Giants' president) in a few days and we'll talk things over."

WANT CONERLY AGAIN

There's no doubt the Giants will want Conerly again this year. First they had Don Heinrich, who was supposed to take over for the veteran when he began to fade. Then they got George Shaw from Baltimore and Lee Grosscup, who was kept on the "taxi squad" for a couple of seasons learning the intricate duties of a pro quarterback.

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Hundreds of houses in this capital today showed cracks in their walls, mute testimony of Wednesday's heavy earthquake. No casualties were reported.

The shocks lasted 45 seconds, caused panic and thousands fled their homes.

Ford Recalls 250 Workers For Work

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The Ford Motor Co., anticipating increased sales, has recalled 250 laid off workers at its stamping plant in nearby Woodlawn.

The recall boosts the present payroll to 3,905 and brings to 1,130 the number of workers returned to their jobs after layoffs. Peak employment at the plant reached 4,200 last year.

The latest recalls are effective Monday.

Some astronomers believe matter—in the form of hydrogen—simply materializes out of nothingness, then collects into clouds of dust to form stars.

BERLIN (AP) — East Germany's Communist regime has sent Israel a list of alleged accomplices in West Germany of Adolf Eichmann, now on trial for mass murder of the Jews, the official East German news agency ADN reported.

ADN said the list named accomplices not yet exposed, "some of whom occupy most influential positions in the Bonn state apparatus."

APPROVE GAME BILL

HARRISBURG (AP)—The House approved Wednesday a bill setting fines for failure to report the killing of game destroying property.

The bill, which now goes to the Senate for consideration, provides a fine of $10 for failure to report a small game bird or animal killed and $25 for failure to report any big game killed.

The vote was 171-17.

GAS FLAME IS REAL HEART OF AIR CONDITION

Modern gas air conditioning, growing in popularity across the nation, uses the same blue flame that fires other gas equipment in the home. The heat supplied by this flame is the heart of the gas air conditioner, according to the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association.

The gas heat starts to vaporize the liquid refrigerant in its circulating system. As the process continues the vapor flows through coils where it absorbs heat from household air being blown over the coils. Later in the cycle the vapor is condensed into a liquid, giving off the absorbed heat for discharge from the house. Back goes the liquid to be heated again by the blue gas flame.

Gas air conditioning has distinct advantages, GAMA states. It is economical because gas costs less for household use than other fuels in most of the country. The refrigerator unit has no moving parts such as in a compressor, eliminating breakdowns caused by wear.

NO COSTLY CHARGE

There is no expensive installation charge since gas is simply piped into the home, and all that is needed is a feed line connection with the nearest gas pipe. Gas service is dependable because underground pipes are not affected by weather. You pay for gas as you use it.

Best of all, gas air conditioning can be adapted to many heating system already in use. Year-round comfort is maintained by merely resetting simple automatic controls. The air in the house is filtered, helping keep the home clean. And because gas burns clean, there is no soot or dirt from combustion to soil drapes or stain walls.

GAMA suggests that for all-year comfort you consult your local heating and cooling contractor or your gas utility representative for a survey of your home's air conditioning opportunities.

Gas Water Heaters Have Quick Speed

More than 80 per cent of all water used in the home is hot water. Even discounting baths, showers, dishes and laundry, there are still 136 uses for hot water in the home.

When you by an automatic gas water heater it's important to get the right size tank. And be sure to size for the future, for families have a way of growing.

You can now "size by science" with the help of a "Sizing Slide-rule" developed by the American Gas Association. Consult your local gas appliance dealer about needs.

When inqiring, be sure to emphasize that you want a GAS water heater. Because only gas gives you maximum economy and speed. For example, a 30-gallon gas-fired water heater provides more hot water per hour than an 80-gallon tank run by any other automatic fuel.

Speed is essential because new modern home laundries use a large amount of hot water in a brief period. Up to 20 gallons in 40 minutes to soak, scrub and rinse one wash load.

Two Are Killed In Head-On Accident

COLUMBIA, Pa. (AP) — Two cars collided headon Thursday, killing a man and a woman and injuring the woman's husband.

The dead were Mrs. Hazel I. Olson, 30, of R. 1, Eau Claire, Wis., and Harry James Shaw, 47, of Millersville. Mrs. Olson's husband, Manford, was admitted to a hospital.

Police said that Shaw's car struck the Olsons', apparently while Shaw was trying to pass on a curve in front of a drive-in theater near this Lancaster County community. The Olsons had been visiting a relative in Lancaster.

THE MARXENS moved into their All-Gas home in Pittsburgh in June of '57. All of the major household jobs are done by modern, automatic gas appliances . . . cooling, heating, cooking, clothes drying, water heating, and the Marxens are enjoying the low fuel bills typical of All-Gas Homes.

"WE SAVE OVER $350* A YEAR IN OUR ALL-GAS HOUSE OF SAVINGS," SAY THE MARXENS

Amazed at low cost of central GAS cooling and heating

During three of the hottest summers and coldest winters in recent years, cooling and heating their entire 5 level, 6 room house with gas cost the Marxens only an average of $25 a month. "That's one good reason why we like our gas system best," says Mr. Marxen.

"And what comfort we've had!" adds Mrs. Marxen. "Every room is just the way we like it—without drafts. The house stays cleaner, too."

The Marxens are sold on gas appliances not only because they're economical, but because they assure safe, dependable operation with low upkeep. "What little service we've needed has been handled quickly, efficiently and courteously by the Gas Company," says Mr. Marxen.

You, too, can enjoy modern living with convenience and comfort as well as economy—by installing all gas appliances in your home.

*In this area, annual saving would be as much or more.

MRS. MARXEN PREFERS GAS COOKING because—as she puts it—"You don't get the exacting control with electric that you do with gas." Mrs. Marxen is always sure of perfect results with her modern built-in gas range with the Burner-with-a-Brain. Her kitchen walls and curtains stay bright and new because gas cooking is clean.

Gas Air Conditioning Wins Favor For Comfort Cooling

Most people think of air conditioning as a summertime luxury —something to be enjoyed only during the hottest weather. Actually, it's a year-round necessity. Cooling is a but a small part of the story. Air conditioning is just what the name implies: a conditioning of the air.

The purpose of air conditioning is to control the indoor climate so that a condition of comfort may be maintained the year around. Gas air conditioning does this better than any other type of equipment.

Gas air conditioning does mean cooling. However, it also means dehumidifying, cleaning and circulating the air in the summer; and it means heating, cleaning and circulating the air in the winter; and it means cleaning and circulating the air when neither heating nor cooling is required.

SIMPLE OPERATION

The operation of gas air conditioning is a simple one. Outside and inside air is mixed in the unit and passed through a filter. From this point the air is either heated as in a conventional gas heater and sent on through the duct system into the home, or it is passed over the cooling unit where excess moisture is removed and the air is cooled and then sent through the duct system.

The operation is a rapid one with the warm or cool air continuously being circulated throughout the entire home. For in-between seasons when neither heating nor cooling is necessary, the air can still be filtered and circulated.

The cooling system in a modern gas air conditioner is much the same as that used in gas refrigerators. There are no moving parts in either the heating or cooling cycles. This pays off in noiseless, trouble-free operation and adds to the life of the equipment.

No community in the nation is entirely immune to the plague of heat and humidity. In recent years, factories and traffic-clogged highways have added still another problem — air pollution. Air conditioning is the only method of obtaining clean, pure, cool air inside the home.

HAVE TWO TYPES

Basically, there are two types of gas air conditioners: a central system which provides cool, filtered air in the summer and warm, filtered air in the winter; and an "add-on" air conditioning unit which can generally be hooked-up to an existing warm air furnace.

Both types can be installed either indoors in a basement, utility room or closet, or out of doors providing it is close enough to ducts to allow a short connection. An attached garage or carport are possible locations.

"Cost?" and "Will it fit my house?" are probably the two questions most frequently asked about air conditioning.

Gas air conditioning, like most other gas appliances, is usually more economical to operate than any other type of equipment. It is also the most efficient and dependable.

OPERATING COSTS VARY

Installation and operating costs vary in different locations, but in most parts of the country a complete gas heating, air conditioning system for a 7-room home, including all ductwork, costs about $2,000. This includes a five-year warranty on parts and service. Gas company experts can best advise on costs based on individual needs and use.

Most people buy air conditioning for the comfort it offers. After living with it for a season or two they are amazed at the countless bonuses they never dreamed they were buying: better sleep, more energy, improved appetites, less housework, little or no heavy cleaning, fewer colds, all-around better health and greater enjoyment of family life.

Air conditioning also increases the value of the property, adding to the resale price of the home. The Federal Housing Administration recently stated: "Within a few years any house that is not air conditioned will be considered obsolete. Savings on heat, cleaning, laundering and medical expenses, resulting from air conditioning, more than offset the cost of operating the equipment during the cooling season."

FIRST HEATING FUEL

Gas is now the nation's number one house heating fuel. Within a few years it is expected to be the nation's leading air conditioning fuel as well. This is based on the add-on advantages of gas air conditioning equipment, the current trend toward whole-house air conditioning and the availability of gas systems to fit every size home.

The best of evry air conditioning system is its ability to control the air inside the home at the exact degree of coolness desired regardless of outside temperatures. The ideal system does this quietly, efficiently and economically. Only gas excels in meeting all of these requirements.

When all considerations are taken into account, gas air conditioning pays for itself. It's the nation's newest necessity for healthier, better living the year round.

SPARK UP LIVING ROOM

It's a simple job to air draperies, curtains, pillows, etc., if you have a gas clothes dryer. These articles can be tumbled for 10-15 minutes without heat. The results: dust and wrinkles will be removed, colors will look brighter and furnishings smell fresh, and have a soft, well-groomed look.

BLUE IS THE CLUE

Your gas flame is working most efficiently in the range or other gas appliance when it is distinctly blue in color, with an inside cone of slightly brighter hue. Improper mixing of air with gas in the mixing chamber may change the color of the gas flame. Dust or salt in the air or grease on the burner may also distort the blue color. If all is well, blue is the clue.

Warming of the earth has had such a dramatic effect on Spitsbergen, an Arctic island group 400 miles north of Norway, that areial maps made in the 1930's are out of date.

MODERN COOKS NOW BARBECUE WITH GAS HEAT

Summertime when the livin' is easy, families everywhere take to the great outdoor and, like Indians, send up smoke signals for all to see.

No, they're not in distress. They're enjoying America's favorite pastime—barbecuing in the backyard.

The fun and informality of this popular activity no longer has to be restricted to warm weather and the wide open spaces. Modern families can now barbecue indoors during the coldest months of the year with the same degree of enjoyment.

A new gas range with a built-in rotisserie-barbecue located on top of the range is making this possible. Meat is self-basted as it rotates on a motor driven spear, reducing shrinkage and retaining more of the natural juices and delicious flavor. Cooking time is greatly reduced by the use of efficient radiant heat and two individually controlled gas burners give flexibility of heat concentration.

BUILT-IN ROTISSERIE

The built-in rotisserie frees the ovens for other baking or broiling at the same time meat is cooking on top of the range. The entire rotisserie unit may be removed for easy cleaning and storage, and a handy griddle may be used in its place when desired. It is also possible to broil without smoke on top of the range simply by using the side racks that are supplied with the rotisserie assembly.

Highlighting the top burners of the new range is a thermostatically controlled surface burner which regulates the temperature of cooking utensils to the exact degree desired. For popular waterless cooking there are two simmer burners, and one super-jet unit which provides extra high heat for very fast cooking.

Automatic operation of the new range enables all of the cooking units, including the giant oven and broiler, to be lighted automatically without matches. A useful second oven with its own separate broiler and thermostatic control gives added convenience. Glass viewing panels let the cook keep an eye on the meal's progress without having to open oven doors. This results in cooler, faster cooking.

The new gas range also wears the coveted Gold Star Award, symbol of the world's finest cooking appliances. The Gold Star immediately identifies a range as having met more than 30 of the highest standards ever devised for cooking equipment. It means that the range is superior in every way because only the most modern ranges, offering the most desidable features, can qualify for the Gold Star Award.

SYNTHETIC SNOWSUITS

For quick drying of outdoor clothing made of synthetic fabrics, close zippers and fasteners and place in a gas clothes dryer for 10 minutes. Remove, turn inside out and replace in the gas dryer for another 10 minutes. Remove from the dryer and hang to finish drying.

"Let's stop fiddling around and get whole house GAS Air Conditioning"

George: Costs too much.

Casper the Bassett: Does not. We're buying a new house anyway. We can put in an Arkla-Servel Central GAS Air-Conditioning System that both cools and heats. Comfort conditions the entire house year 'round. The whole thing can be included in our mortgage payments for as little as $10.00 more a month.

George: Costs too much to run.

Casper: Not a Gas Air-Conditioning System. Friend of mine lives with a family that has one. Their average monthly bill to both cool and heat with Gas is surprisingly low. And with a Gas System there are no moving parts to wear out.

George: You've convinced me. Let's get one.
